Matienal Police Cazette.

POOL COLLEGE C

THE ONLY CRIMINAL JOURNAL IN THE UNITED STATES.

Vol. XXVIII....No. 1814

FOR WEEK ENDING SATURDAY, DECEMBER 5, 1874.

Price 10 Cont

HOW THANKSGIVING DAY AND EVE WAS KEPT.

tes to the

National Police Gazette.

Merbert R. Mooney & Charles A. Lederer Preprietors.

TERMS (IN ADVANCE)-One Year, $4; Six Months, $5

SATURDAY, DEC'R 5, 1874.

Communications intended for the Business Department should be addressed to RIGHARD K. Fox, Bus Manager, 23

at should be addressed sommunications below to be name to insure at many be se All c the risk of the property of the extensive circulation of the paper, and the limited space for the insertion of advertisements, the property of the prop its, the proprietors have adopted the following rates of advertising:

Bpecial Notices - - - $1 per Agate line.
Business Notices - - 60cts, per Agate line.
Ordinary Advertisements - 50 cts, per line.
Nine words constitute a line, and in all cases one line additional is added for space.

Notice to Advertisers.

Parties wishing advertisements to appear in the Ga-garra must hand them in before 12 o'clock (noon) on Friday of each week, as after that hour it is impossible uarantee them an insertion.

Now is the Time to Subscribe.

CLUBS—Any person sending a subscription for ten opies of the NATIONAL POLICE GAZETTE for six nonths, or one year, will be entitled to receive an extra copy for himself.

POSTAGE-The legal rate of postage on the NATIONAL POLICE GAZETTE, addressed to its regular subscribers is Twenty Cents per annum, or Five Cents per quarter psyable in advance. Subscribers who receive the ples by letter-carriers will please hand the annual or narterly postage to the carriers, taking their receipts It any higher rates are demanded, report the facts to the local Postmaster.

The postage on copies directed to subscriber few York City has been prepaid by the publishers. Post Office Box 40, New York City.

A Shocking Outrage.

The Herald of last Tuesday gave a long account of a terrible outrage committed on a poor Irish girl, whose sad mistortune had led her into the clutches of an employee of the Commissioners of Charities and Correc-

While crossing Lake Champlain, en route to New York, she caught a severe cold, and "hive spots" ap peared on her face. On her arrival in New York she was advised to go to the Board of Health. Here, the bive spots being magnified to small pax pustules in the eyes of the careless officials, she was sent to the small por hospital, despite her beer and entreaties. She wa placed between two frightful cases, one of whom died For nearly ten days after that she was left in atter lone!! ness, with the exception of an occasional visit from an attendant, who brought her cold tea 'on one eccasion with a magget in the solution of the same fail got, a londerous erretch named Mayor came into the second room and tertibly outraged the unfortunate girl. men she returned to conscious seas she was in a terri ole condition. Franție with her misery, she managed to crawl away and gat to the Board of Heath. Here she was kept by the effectory movements of Dr. Day and the Board of Commissioners, until at last the poor girl, in atter despuir, erawled to a friend's house, told her story, and sock pelson. She now lies at the point of death, a terrible warning to the Commissioners of Charities and Could novelist weave a more terrible picture of the misery of unfortunate womanhood? Starved S gentie men; outraged! gentlemen; and dving through your carelessness! gentlemes or the Board of Charities.

A heavy trust was imposed on you when you were given charge of the homeless masses. They were your brethren; men with souls, for whose safety yes will have to answer some day at the bar of eternal ju tice. Is humanity so much freight, or have your soul been so dyed with red tapelem that the wall of se out raged orphan falls placidly on your cars? Are you don't to the howl of indignation that swept through the city tapelsm, your own careleseness, came to light?

O, as you love purryood name; as you kope for more at the last day, throw off your less tude and make storment to this poor air.—a stranger in a strange land! If prayers will not avail to obtain justice, bothink you of another alterminity that shall sover you with infamy.

The Cast Regions,

Sympathising as we do with the unfortunate human beings in and about Outcooksie and elsewhere in the Pounsylvania silving regions, it is with the despect cor-row that we long of the recent outrages committed there by starving, homelage men. With all our boasted civilization the masses of humanity still remain plunged in want and misery. Only by the closest—the most rigid can the average laborer save enough from his scanty wages to insure for himself an independent old age. While we deplore the rulnous lack of foresight on the part of our working classes, we alse! durst not blame then. Mankind cannot work, work, work, in cesseless toll, from morn until night, without some relaxation. We, who in the upper walks of life take ou postpraudial enjoyment, as a matter of course, think but little of the shifts that many of our breth put to in order to obtain a molety of enloyment once in a way. From a sentimental outlook, we cannot blame the laborer, if, after his sinuous toll is ended, he seeks relaxation from the hopeless routine which marks his walk of life. Partial education has, so far, tended make the masses discontented with their lot, and brought about the dreaded communard doctrines-a theory in which plausible sophistry has been adroitly weaved with truth by daring demagogues. Truly a little knowledge to a dangerous thing. The great proletarian lymph have learned their power; but years must pass ere they learn how to use it prudently. Having once put our band to the plow we cannot turn back. Either the workingman must know more, or less. The old come to pass that a complete educational system shall take the place of the present imperfect one, and mankind learn to know himself, unaided by the mirror of the sophist. We are ever ready to make excuses for the Western savage when, impelled by want or revenge, he plunges his tomahawk into the brain of some luckless trader. But for the Caucasian savage we have to pity—no apology. And yet he should be a million times more the especial subject of our philimeropy Unlike the Red Man, he works hard for his livelit and it is only when cruel oppression or blas political concern denrites him of bread for his little ones, that bright white God her little ones, that bright white God her little ones, all.

Carbon just now is the access of some of ght, and we look that with dread on its heal and present results. sults.

No Necessity for Creaking.

We hear around us. in every quarter, the perpetual croak, "What hard times we are having," But, when we come to consider the matter fully, we do not see any cason for it.

The harvest this year has been a plentiful one, and to-day the cost of Siving is less, in every suspect, then it has been since 1861, whether in city or country. Why then should this cry of hard times arise and be accepted by the general public as a fact? We say that the "bard times" are more apparent than real, and those who make the most noise about it are those who, as a rule, have made money out of the abnormal rise in values, resulting from a state of war and a gradually depreciated our rency, and now that their property is beginning to fall in price, through the shrinkage in values, which patne ally results from an improvement in the currency, they "begin to murmur." Gold rose from par to 268 during the war, and since then it has been gradually falling, with the exception of a few occasional sparts of specu lators, such as that of Black Friday. The consequence is that to-day the country is in a far healthier condition than it was three years ago. The panic of 1878, which brought down Jay Cooke, Renry Clews and a host of others, was like the bursting of a boil, which lets out the loathsome matter and restores health to the patient. The railroad stocks and bonds only fell to their true value, but not one dollar of property was destroyed only fictitious values.

The real fact of the matter is, that it is not the numbe of dollars people have or earn that is important, but what they can get with them. And it to-day, as is the case, the mechanic or clerk can live better on $15 a week than he could five years ago on $20 a week-andwe believ the difference to be even greater-we hold this fact as proof, that croaking is a mistake, and that the country to-day is more prosperous than at any time for the past fourteen years.

EDITORIAL FLASHES.

-"Down is a Coal Mine" is not a popular song is Pottsville, Pa.

-It is said that New York City will offer souperlo attractions this winter.

-Bald headed roosters may be found at Robinson Hall. M. E. P. every bleased one of them.

plonahi ... Go to, Dan'; the police will back you.

—When the New York State Domocrats come Into power they should give work to the laboring classes. —Let Grant redeem himself by lavelling on Cubs There will be work enough for every everybody then. -Lee, the celebrated Mountain Meadows Chief, has been caught by the los. Of course it is a gale day with the Gentiles -The Police Commissioners, with President Mateel

at their head, are improving the N. Y. Police from week to week -- Spein had to borrow the money from I chants to settle Great Britain's claim. How about one fittle bill, Mr. Fish ? - World stockholders are confidently expecting a di vidend before a million years shall have passed, in consequence of the recent Democratic victory. -And now, eccording to the Crescent City Couries the Chinese are Free Masons. They are free with mos anything that lays around promisenously, we believe. -The Sen gives a very full report of a Martha Wash-with "their ladies." Where the d-I were their wives .The rustle swaln who assured his sweetheart that h had peeled off the stamp in order to taste that per presend by her ruby lips, was rather amonyed to find by return mail that the stamp had been affixed by her nig-

-Our Friunds should bear in mind that they can so leet their numbers, cut out the tables, and send the four at one time, thus saving postage stamps, time and trouble The first of the series were published last res hanged. It was not stated which knot he liked best .- Courier. It seems to us that he liked both equally well, seeing that they both brought him to the (b)altar. -If Mademoiselle Pauline Garcia (Bromide of Poasium[?]) penned that libel on Mr. Herbert B. Mooney, we are sorry that the unfortunate lady did not learn the conjugation of the English verbs, ere she assumed editorial charge of a paper,

-Patrick Ford, Esq., of the Irish World, is a therene! type of the Irish gentleman. His ussasuming manners combined with the brightness and vigor of his editorials, lace him among the first, if not the first, rep tive of Irish journalists in this country.

-Ah;Bou-Town says:

A modern as denned Leo's skin In search of game to go. His voice and pen alike betrayed The mind of L. Munroe.

-Mr. Anthony J. Comstock, of |the Young Men's Christian Association, is, we are happy to say, recovering from the effects of the dastardly assault committee on him in Newark We'trust Mr. Comstock may be spared to pursue his good work, and, is the meanwhile, remind him that that highly colored paper is still in existance.

-The Crescent City Courier, one of the spiciest jour-Sendal system is not to be thought of, and so it must nals on the Pacific coast, thus notices the NATIONAL Po-LICE GAZETTE: "A welcome exchange now on our table is the NATIONAL POLICE GAZETTE. It is a large eight-page paper; one-half of the sheet is handed illustrated. It is the best criminal journal in the Unit-ed States, and shows all the dark phases of life in their true light."

THE FALL STYLE OF GENTLEMEN'S DRESS HAY, introduced by BURKE, of 214 Broadway, is the only correct style.

PAIR TURNED TO PLEASURE !-At Dr. Colton's Denta Office, in the Cooper Institute. The roll of patients now numbers 77 895, and they have never had a failure now numbers 77 896, and they have never man a source or acceptant from the gas.

The way as QUITE come for many well informed persons will may or west say other than the new Eisstic True, which is constantly worn the a user is effected and except to hair whatever, and is suit by mail to all parts of the country. Seek for a Chronier to The Eisstic Trees Co., No. 653 Breadury, N. T. City.

NEW ADVERTISIES AGENCE. Rowell & Chesman have formed a coperturning and established a newspaper Advertising Agency at St. Louis. Mr. George P. Rowell, the senior partner, is well known throughout and Mr. Nel-Rowell, the senior partner, is well known throughout the land wherever a new paper circulates, and Mr. Nel-son Chesman, has made a reputation as editor of the Ammircoan Nawaparum Dismorons, which is part and par-cel of American Journalism. The firm is a staunch and eliable one and we wish it success .- De

BANK ACCOUNT is a good thing to have, but if too freely drawn upon it runs out. Bodily health is the drat of blessings, but because a good constitution bears e wonderfully, do not assume that a reckoning day never come. Strive rather to add to that with which you are endowed. Live sensibly and moder and at the first symptoms of dyspepsis, disorders of the skin, kidners, liver or blood, use promptly Dn. WALEER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAL BITTERS, the unrivelled purifier of the blood and renovator of the system, which

FALL AND WINTER HOUSE REPLENISHING .- The gre est, most comfortable, and ornamental luxury of the household is a new, bright and handsome earpet. Its appearance, under the care and domestic good managea thritty bousewife establishes good will" in the home relations of a man and wife; of course, most especially when the matron's temper and natural disposition is errors and bland (as they all are, God bless them.) Now that the belmy Fall season of the year is at hand, when the replenishing of all articles of farniture and comfort will be required, the cheapes and best house in New York to-day to purchase al kinds of Wilton, tapestry, Brussels and lugratu carpets well as oil cloths, mats, rugs, &c., is at Bendall's Misst Carpet" Rooms, 112 Fulton street, where all lives and qualities of carpets are on sale at 50 per cent free of charge, and, no trouble to please or exhibited by tasty clerks. It is important to all cla of housekeepers to act on the spirit of econ not fail to call at Bendall's.

To Our Readers-Something New.

The success of the NATIONAL POLICE GAZETTE has been so extraordinary within the past year, that the proprietors of the journal are enabled to make a number of monthly presents to their supporters. Every reader of the GAZETTE will be entitled to a chance. In order that they may be evenly distributed, the follows

| ing arrangement has been agreed upon ? |      |     |     |     |     |     |     |
|--|------|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|-----|
| •                                      | 12   | 14  | 18  | 22  | 24  | 26  | 33  |
| 84                                     | 85   | 86  | 37  | 38  | 108 | 100 | 110 |
| 111                                    | 119  | 118 | 114 | 411 | 419 | 418 | 414 |
| 415                                    | 416  | 417 | 418 | 419 | 490 | 10  | 71  |
| 79                                     | 18   | 74  | 75  | 76  | 77  | 76  | 70  |
| 900                                    | 300  | 904 | 906 | 208 | 900 | 210 | 919 |
| 41                                     |      | 90  | 91  | 92  | 93  | 94  | 95  |
| 98                                     | . 97 | 98  | 149 | 150 | 151 | 150 | 161 |
| Wall of                                |      |     |     | 1   |     |     |     |

The Business Manages of the GARRETTE has n or tables, one of which appears as above in the pres entissue, to be followed for three successive weeks by the remainder—one table every week. He selects such week a number from said table (the numbers ranging from 1 to 500), and the persons who may have the good luck to ber so selected, will be presented with ONE HUK-DRED DOLLARS. In the event of none of our reader hitting on the four lucky numbers, any person who seects three of said numbers correctly will receive a preent of FIFTT DOLLARS. Any one who selects two of Any one who selects one number will receive a present of FIFTHER DOLLARS.

The person whose selected numbers come nearest the sum total of the said numbers chosen by the manager, out of .... Twelve dollars.

PURTURE PARTICULARS.

In order that the foregoing arrangement may be perectly intelligible to all, let us illustrate the mode of

Let us suppose that the manager selects from the bors table No. 88; from the table in the next issue of the GARRETTE, No. 400; from the next, No. 3, and from the next, and lest, No. 500. Then, the person who seive a present of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS.

With regard to the approximate numbers, as the sus total of 83, 400, 3 and 500, is 985, the individual when in tions, should come mearest that came to would receive a present of Twante Dockans; th

One word more, in conclusion. Remember, and its projectors have the sincere hope that their greenbacks will soon be flying all over the Stat lucky ones.

11. B .- Cut out the table with the numbers ground, and forward them to Richard K. Fox, Business Manager, NATIONAL POLICE GAZETTE, No. 28 Chambers street, New York. P. O. Box 40.

EMBER-To send the four different tables at the end of the four weeks, with the number marked each week. This will save postage, time, and trouble. Mark the back of cach table, first, second, third or fourth, according to its tasue. It is not necessary that the reade should be a subscriber in order to entitle him to a chance ne misunderstanding having arisen on this score, the publishers wish it distinctly understood ed that any

POLICE TRIALS.

Captains Thomas Cherry, First Precinct; James M. Learr, Sesond Precinct; John H. McCullongh, Third Precinct; Alexander H. Williams, Fourth Precinct; Charles W. Caffrey, Fith Precinct; William B. Lowery, Sixth Precinct; In S. Garland, Seventh Precinct; Cherles Milham B. Lowery, Sixth Precinct; Charles Milham L. Gleventh Precinct; Charles Milham, Elevanth Frecinct; Thomas J. Kenued, Ninsh Precinct; Charles Milham H. Cittoby, Thirteenth Precinct; Theorem E. William H. Cittoby, Thirteenth Precinct; Anthony J. Allaire, Fourteenth Precinct; William A. Chinchy, Thirteenth Precinct; John Gunner, Eighteanth Precinct; John J. Mouth, Musteenth Precinct; Joech Biebert, Seventeenth Precinct; John McBiwain, Twenty-dist Precinct; John McBiwain, Twenty-dist Precinct; John McBiwain, Twenty-dist Precinct; John McBiwain, Twenty-dist Precinct; John Bauders, Twenty-seventh Precinct; Michael J. Murphy, Twenty-sight Precinct; Henry N. Steers, Twenty-inth Precinct; Edward Walsh, Thirtieth Precinct, John J. Williamson, Thirty-drant Precinct: Theorem C. Davie, Thirty-second Precinct; Henry Hodden, Thirty-third Precinct; Theore E. Bennett, Thirty-tourth Precinct; Theore E. Bennett, Thirty-tourth Precinct; Theore E. Menney Hodden, Thirty-third Precinct; Theore E. Bennett, Thirty-tourth Precinct; Theore E. Menney Hodden, Thirty-third Precinct; Theore E. Bennett, Thirty-tourth Precinct; John J. Williamson, Thirty-drant Precinct: Theorem T. Williams, Thirty-Effh Precinct.

James I. Verlag Captain Charles T. Williams, Thirty-Effh Precinct.

th Precinct.
James Irving, Captein Detective Force. Sergeant
obn J. Quinn, First District Court; Sergeant Oliver ims, Second District Court; Sergeant Thomas N.
mes, Third District Court; Sergeant B. S. Philips, ourth District Court; Sergeant E. T. Woodward, Firth istrict Court, Captain James Irving, Special Se.vice.
eter Tule, Sanitary Commission.

Thos. Sampson, James P. Bennett, Ira M. Clapp, Jacob Von Gerichten, William G. Elder, Phil. Farley, John J. Dunn, Joseph P. Woolsey, James M. Tilly, Richard Field, S. King, Gerrett Waillne, Henry Avery, John C. Tieman, Zabriski H. Mailen, Philip Reillt, George Nevin, Thomas Dusenbury, Joseph H. Silleck, C. B. McDougal, Jacob Warlow, Timothy Golden, Alvin H. Williams, Charles Heidelberg, Patrick Kierns and Patrick Leahy.

BEFORE COMMISSIONER DISBECKER. NEW YORK, November 25, 1874.

BURD CHARGE.-John O'Nell, patrolman of the Eighteenth Precinct, was charged with failing to dis sover a burgiary on the morning of the 16th inst. Mr. Christopher Wray, the individual whose premise were robbed, is the owner of an extensive hardware store, No. 861 Third avenue, and he has sustained reity severe loss.

It appears that the burglars, who doubtless had been the robbery for some time past, and knew the habits of the proprietor as well as the precise position and value of the stock which they had determined to remove, had found an entrance in the rear of the pre mises. They must have been experts, for they execued the deen with marvellons speed, carrying off the spe ed the door with marvellons speed, carrying of 'hespoil between the visits of the patrolmen, who, to his shame be it said, has not yet found out he'' to be in seven-puted at once. Having effected an entrance, the ra-cals at once pounced upon the goods which they had had in their eye, and when Mr. Wray entered his empo-rium later in the morning, he was poorer by $400 worth of cutlery than when he left his atore the previous

After a great deal of bub-bub, usually conseq After a great deal of bub-bub, usually consequent upon such an affair, in the absence of the thieves, a victim of wrath was looked for and found, in the abape of John O'Neil, whose positive duties compaled him to be far away from the premises in question at the time of the burgiary. Commissioner Biabecker, however, with the cuteness for which he is remarkable, at once saw the physical immensibility away of the most willing officer. cateness for which he is remarkable, at once saw the physical impossibility even of the most willing officer-and surely O'Neil is not wanting in seal—being ubiquit-ous, very properly dismissed the silly complaint. Bare-ty these numerous burglaries should be a lesson to the authorities and make them alive to the fact that most of the beats are far too long to ensure the eafety and protection of the multi. These protection of the public. There are men on the force in some of the most dangerous localities, who cannot possibly show up more than two or three times at certain portions of their best. Can it then be wondered that erims rides rampast, and ought we to blame officer than they cannot possibly show the protection of their best.

that crime rides rampast, and output we to blame officers for what they cannot possibly avoid?

COULDN'S SAN IN WES DANK.—James Quigley, of the Eighteenth Precipet, patrolmen, was brought up on the grevous charge of not having learned to size in the dark.

Just about the time that the robbery mentioned above was committed, some burglars entered the premises owned by Messra. Updits shid American, and carried of shoot one hundred and sixty deliber courts of goods. The light burning in the reservation for it was by the system that the thieres got in, as in this case has recorded was of so feeble a nature, that if only noticed one about desired to rike same that to go the tend on the side of the same that to go the same that one that the same and occase use eye are not a pair of course are ple extra-leased super-magnifying, such as Mr. dis-ler alluded to in the Pickwick trial, it would have scarcely fair to make him responsible for the raler alluded to in the Pickwick trial, it would have becarely intro to make him responsible for the residue burglars' burglery. Here again might we smalled on the absurdities and obortcomians of the "policy machine," which ere long will, in all probability, to fixed up properly by President Materil and Commissioner Disbecker, in such respects, and very properly condemn the absurd eageraces exhibited to prove to the public that police officers who are not wide awake meet with retribution.

There are, doubtless, cases in which policemen are derelict, but they meet with so little encouragement and with retribution.

There are, doubtless, cases in which pollosmen are derelict, but they meet with so little encouragement and commendation, that it is a matter of surprise they should be an vigilant as they are. We said something last week about the heroes of the police; but how way soldom are those deserving the title treated as such J. In this case, as in the last, Commissioner Disbooker was shrewd exought to see that the affect could so more help the robbery than he could put wisdom into the heads of those who summoned him to appear before the Court; and, theretweet, beld him blameless, disminsing the case without heattains.

How Rue we distance, dichard Timgenid, patrolumin of the Present Present, but a servow eccape from themsel, it before hose provided that he help partakes of a heat particle of the Timesel, the way a flux of the case will not take weeking by part being from.

If we was a particle of the Present, put to make a case with historian of the Timesel, it between the particle way the historian of the Timesel, the wind the particle way the parti

inity mlataken his position; for he wants a vole on age, when he has chosen a best on the police force. or he wants a role on th that it is of more topogrance to the Cartery there to you, that this little enterprise should be charged to a complaint of H. B. Classic & Co., who charged that they made a raudulent disposition of goods before they (Newberre Hoffstatt) filed a petition in bankrapicy. Commissioner Osborn held them in $5,000

AH-BOU-TOWN.

A SHAKER MEETING-ALSO AN AFFINITY-MY WIFE'S MOTHER IN TROUBLE.

I have been to a Shaker meeting.

It's good fun. When I got there, a sister said unto me, " I see an affinity."

Bez I, "Not much, ma'am. I don'tain worth a cent, and if you mean anything bad, I want you to understand that I am a married man and have the wife of my wife's that I am a married man and nave the water of the miles skill living."

Bes ska "Enquised morial."

Bes ska "Frequised morial."

Bes ska "No ma'asa, you can "graide me; and I have my can be about your being a mina."

Bes ska, "Oh heart of stone. I feel my pulse throb in maleon with thine; wherefor be obtained? Let us mingle our spirits begether."

Bes I, "Mc'am, you just let that thing about. A good many women have been ruined by it, and I don't believe in Kleptomanis."

She had bung ou to my watch chain in exe

"At least," sez she, "thou wilt dance." So we danced mightily Sez I, "Ma'am, I willest." So we danced mightily exether—hands all round, down the middle, double huffle.

There wasn't a pair of hoofs there that didn't measure ur by thirteen, and they were slung round permis-Bye and bye the elder got a dose of affinity, and dived beneath the bound of a sister. Then the spirit moved the others, and they went and did likewise. A friend of mine remarked that the proceedings were rons, but soon affinitized with a pretty little stater with black eyes.

Myaffinity suddenly hung on to me.

"At last we have met," ses she. "Many a night I have seen thee in my dreams. We will go to arcadian Sez I, "Not much. Nym Crinkle runs that shebang.

nd he'd bounce the both of us."
8:zehe, "You don't comprehend me. I mean coolng streams, also trees," Sez I, "You want a heap of cooling streams over you

Sexshe, "Unhappy, misguided wretch. My paycologcal impetus, must permeate the viscious fluid of your matomy and compel you to love me."

Ses I, "Ma'am, I give up. But, if you have a child's primer handy, I'd like to overhaul it." By this time all hands were affinitizing like the devil.

As the wild Lotos which blooms on the barren peak eneath the fostering care of Whitelaw Read and draw poker makes men forget their families; so also was I about to lorget myself as your representative man and become a convert to this new religion."

I stopped suddenly.

widow of my wife's father tripped upon the She had an umbrella with her, and her eves flashed

Sex she, "What are you doing here? Is it thus you Ses I, "I got an assignment to write this thing up."
Ses she, " Is that any reason why you should go hugging that woman?"

"Who's a woman, ma'am?" shricked my affinity "You are," said my wife's mother, "and I den't be-lieve your'e any better than you ought to be "

ome to this," shricked the affinity. to worse, ma'm, if you don't take care,"

"You'll comes to worse, ma'm, if you don't take care,"
said my wife's mother.
"If you were'nt suchs low person l'd pu'l your bonnet off, ma'm," said my sfinity.
My wife's mother cast a look of withering coatempt on her opponent, and said unto me, "Come!"
I was going when my affinity interposed.
"You shall not take him away," she said.
"You shall not take him away," she said.

Bez my wife's mother, "You had better let me alone, on'v. I have had three husbands.
"Where are they now?" Without answering, my affin proceeded to take down my wife's mother's back halv.

My wife's mother recessed her face with a pair of nails, and then began to undress her.

Bhe also began to undress my wife's mother.

Did you ever see two cate going it?

They were like two cats.

By a sudden and adroit movement my wife's mother placed her thumb in the mouth of my affin. At the same moment the affin nestly stopped a blow on her sinis-

Then they elinched ind sat down on the floor.

By this time all the asters had reached for a handful of my wife's mother's hair to remember her by.

I thought it was time to interfere.

"The floor boing dyed with gore."—Shakespeare.

The gores of their dresses. Set 1, "Print successful me to shut up, and my hat uddenly appeared over my eyes.

By this time I thought it prudent to say nothing

My wife's mother was the sickest looking woman you or Spitter like a Trojan. Three affinities had passed at and she was doing well. There wasn't so much set on her best now, and she could act freer in her

the had not flown to her chemise and pettle ion of that umbrell

I advanced to meeting threat on florer, and I saw him to be a forer immediately afterwards. He wasn't be to be a few of the control of the co To pres influenced in the fight after that.

In pres influences the room was clear of everybody expects.

Sershe, "Look, you infamous Lothario, what I have suffered for you. Gaze on these wounds, this parted

She was advancing towards me.

There was a window at the other end of the room. I went for it. Also through it.

I didn't want the sash, but it was bandler to take it with me just then.

Also I could have dispensed with the bits of glass forned my person. But I got away, and was thankful.
I haven't been home since, and am

P. S.—My wife's mother gives out that she is if from an attack of inflammatory rheumatics. A. B. T.

A LIVE SERVENCE FOR MURDUS—Trop, Nov. 21.— David Sheehan was found guilty of sureder in the second degree to-day before/Judge Weithrook. On the lith of July hast James Regan, the murdered men, diving near Sheehan, while drunk abled upon him while in bed, and applied the cylthet "sheep stealer" to him. Sheehan got up and went out, when a quarred ensued, and, after consciond threads, Sheehan got an are and brained his antegonist. The nurdered man died twelve days after-ward. The jury were out but a few minutes. Sheehan was sentenced for life.

AN ATTEMPT TO MURDER A SHERIPF-Franklin, La. Nov. 28.—An unsuccessful attempt was made Saturday night to murder Mr. Gordy, the Sheriff of St. Mary's Parish. Gordy was called up out of bed and fired at through the window. He is only slightly wounded. DODGER'S

EXPOSITIONS.

BRANSOM'S "DIVE " AGAIN. Last Monday night while passing by Bransom's "crib" on the corner of Fourteenth street and Third avenue, I saw an excited individual emerge from the cellar and look around for a "copper." Thinking there was some thing in it, I approached and asked him what was the trouble, when he replied that he had taken a girl down into one of the private supper rooms and while dailying with her there she had 'knucked' him out of his "super," "slang," and "sugar," amounting altogether to a two hundred dollar loss. On discovering that he "super," "siang," and "sugar," amounting altogether to a two bundred doilsr loss. On discovering that be had been gone through, he at once informed that sale-cloue old hypocrite, Louis Bransom, of the occurrence, and all the gratification he got from him was to the offect, if he was a married man the rest thing he could do was to grin and hear it; for if ever the "moll" who had cohead him was "landed" "I be found." had robbed him was "pinched," all the facts of the case would come out in the newspapers, along with his name and place of residence, and the consequence would be a terrible showing up all round. In the meanwhile the har-lot had quietly "namased" away by the Fourteenth street entrance, after "whacking up" her plunder (as I learned Afterwards) with Jack Malone, Bransom's ex-backgepe and Hen Bransom, the proprietor's brother. While on this subject, I must inform my readers that the above two thieves lie around there sill the time seeking out or anyone that is "boozed," to go through them. They are so cold blooded that, friend or foe, prostitute or "sat," don't escape their grip if ever Louis's polson lulis have a "slog" for his " sugar;" but it was useless, as he was double banked by Jack Bransom's son, and another thief who took a hand in. The upshot of this make resulted in Jack getting "collsred" and fined an meler resulted in Jack getting "collered" and floed as K, which his strumpet raised by pawning some of her "toggery." Now I would like to know what Capt. Gunner is going to do with this receptacle of all that is vile, low and filthy. Is he going to be like his predeces or Tynan, of whom that beastly old scoundrel Bransom openly boasted in his disreputable den that he had him "aquared?" Heaven forbid. Let him go down incog some night into the kitchen, and it he don't see some-thing that will make his hair stand, then he possesses a stronger nerve than I give him credit for. John, you had better pull this, "orbi" at once, and effectually

Bransom or any other man who carries on such an in-fernal, disreputable business, as he does nightly on the corner of Fourteenth street and Third avenue. APROPOS OF THE ABOVE had better pull this "crib" at once, and effectually break it up; for, if you don't, there will be war between us. This is no threat; all I ask is to get this nutsase t, because it is a moral outrage to allow it to exist and, what is more, you will rest assured in your own mind of having done a benefit to the public. Wake up, Capt. John, and show us that you are above a bribe free

Tommy Lynch, an ex-convict from Sing Sing, stor at Bransom's " dive" a few nights since, in a coach. In-side the coach was a " pile at swag" in the shape of laces, ribbons, furs, silks, and everything else belonging beam kept her "fence" arrangement, became Harris of Second street, only "steed" for "supers" and "pennyweight," and he wanted to dispose of it in a hurry. On heing informed of the locality, Delancy and Orcheed streets, he darted out and returned back in half as hour, with some sixty "eases" for his "whack." Then the ot-gutted Brausom same in with some of his honeyed peeches, to try and best this "gondoil" out of bit easily earned "sugar." A sample of his flowery rheto

"Ab, Tommy, what is it to be, a porter-house stake for all hands, syster rossts, or there—give it a name, my dear boy." (Then saids) to a harlot, "swell his head and go through him like a dose of salts; he is a 'crank' since ecming down the river." Too much space would be occupied by going through the whole details. It is sufficient enough to know that when Mr. Lynch left there all he had in his possession, was about enough to pay bed money with his "moll." Carry this thing on a little 'stretches" for you, instead of two and a half.

ONE FROM THE "HUB."

While walking up the Bowery on Wednesday, "piped of," standing outside Dutch George's "crib, 101, Johnny Watson, a full fledged "knuck" from Bos-to. Me, it "ppears, found the city of pork and beam too limited for his aphere of action, and hence his advent here. I understand that he has been working the Gran Central depot with so much success that all the Bowers girls are crasy after him on account of his lavishing manner. I wonder if he was so tree while doing his three "atretches" in Charlestown "stir?" Not much you bet.

CASINO JOE

is the nom de plume of a "sheeny" "hoister" that works dry goods stores early in the morning. His plan is to go to some wholesale store where the porter is the only man around, and while engaging bim in conversation slips the article he covets into the capacious pockets of "top jack," then remarks that he will call in later and that's the last of him, as far as buying is concerne

WHY CAN'T THIS THING BE STOPPED ! President Matsell's fulmination about us pos the finest police force in the world, don't amount to a row of pins, when such panel thieves are allowed to rope in countrymen around Fourteenth street an Union square as Addie Rivers and her "bloke" French u square as Addie Rivers and her "bloke" Frenchy

[Subject of Illustration.] IN THE NICK OF TIME.

Among the many disreputable houses in Bicccke street, says a gentleman who is well acquainted with the locality, is one, a part of which has been used for assign locality, is one, a part of which has been used for assignation purposes. Our informant, who knew not the nature of the place, lived in two rooms on the bestment floor, and one night hast week, while in conversation with a friend, he heard a woman's scream. The sound came from the floor above, and, followed by his friend, he quickly mounted the atjus. The cry was repeated, and he at ones tried the door handle of a room from which it evidently proceeded. The door was locked, but without hesitation he broile it owes and darted in, to find a rufflan strangling a beautiful young woman, who was faintly mangauling, a don't, Red, dear Red, for Heaven's sake don't hill me." The brave visitor soited the infurnal secundrel by the coller, and just anger giving him almost superbuman strength, he harled him against the wall, knocking the somes out of him. The poor girl, although deeply grateful to the stranger for saving her life, extreated him to spare her lover, whom she n-vertheless declared she would leave at once. Nothing would induce her to make a charge once. Nothing would induce her to make a charge egainst him, and esticid himself that she did have the brutal wretch, the gentleman reluctantly left him to re-

> |Subject of Illustration. A MUSIC TEACHER'S DODGE.

It is well known that masic tegchers are allowed more license in the governing of their lidy pupils, then are in structors of art, and it is within our recollection that scores of our young famale friends have hinghingly described how Professor Dabadabo, or figure Mushebadgo rapped their knuckles, and pulled their little sars during their daily efforts to strike a clean octave, but we are somewhat surprised to learn that Mona Dubola, a Parisian technical control of the control of t instructor, in a moment of frenzy, actually drew a dag ger on a fair pupil, only, as he said, to frighten her int being a good performer.

Sunday at the Tombs.

REPORTED FOR THE "GARDTEN" BY CHREUSING.

His Honor smiled, as he took his seat last Sun norning. But it was evident that the remneuts obster called yet larked in his system, and had evident the system.

what to do with his rulings.
"Sixth and Eighth," said he, and a miscellaneous assortment of humanity, came up to be duly tickried with

"Did you ever look at Bumming from an authorical point of view?" asked his Honor of Robert Walsh, who had been arrested because "he weren't a-doin' of noth-

That's just it, yer Honor," be returned. " How so?" asked his Honor, comple pen.

Well, you see, the doctor gave me one of them things "Well, you see, the doctor gave me one of them things " ouce, and I alu't got my senses y-t-never been good for much alnes, your Honor. The State ought to sup ort me."

"Bo de I. Robert; but the Stale is hard-hearted. Republics, se k rule, are hard-hearted; but that's no reation why you should bust your wife in the ear."
"No, yer house; it was the gas."
"Well, Robert, I'll care you. I don't like to be hard in you."

on yos."

"Thank you, yer hoser."

"Ligar's a clean up the river, celebrated for the purity of its varyes and by many "mill cure right of about ten days. If you aim't on prot that tipes, get druk again, and I'll give a twent of the common tense o went his way.

"Got drunk and walloped you, ch?" remarked his Honor to a Benedict of the Sixth.

"Yes, yer honor; tried to chew off a piece of my

" Did she get it ?" asked his Honor.

"No, yer honor."
"Then it was evidently a piece de resisieser. Ten days, Mrs. Masylebone, we can't allow Sybarites in the Sixth." Mrs. Marylebone wept and joined her als-

"I test my child, yer Honor, and jostled up agains he gentleman while I was looking for him," said Marhe gent garet Hayte.

man's pocket, you'll be a millionaire in no the

"Solomon could not have judged more wisely," said
Cherubino, in agony of admiration.

"You're a Roman matran," said his Honer to a her-

" You're a I

"No, your Honor; I'm an American."

"And I say you're a Roman matron. Were'nt yen romin' all over the town yesterday? Where, chi where is the sturdy self-reliance and labora purity than once distinguished your states? Take ten days' worth: the fresh sir will do you good."

"Are you a mechanic?" saked his Honor of a Scotel

"Nae, yer Honor, am no that; am a MePharson."

"Noa, yer Honor, am no tast; am a declared."
"Good for ten days, or ten dollars."
The money was paid.
"When you come again," said his Honor, "I hope you'll have more centa."
"The horizon begins to look clearer," remarked his Honor, as be enclosed the 'ton' in his left vest pocker, "It was the double extra ale, yer Honor; didn't now it was so strong. Only two glasses, so help me." "Did you ever study Algebra?" asked his Honor. know it was so strong.

"No, yer Honor-why?"

"Because if you had, you wouldn't be here. Know, then, misguided toper, that x pins x signifies an unknown quantity. Nover seek to penoirate its myste-

"Knowledge is power," remarked Cherubino, and

"Anowengs " Manage of the street, yer Honor," said Cyclops, "because I called her a spend der pese."
"That wes it, your Honor," saided ont Beby. "I wouldn't have cared if he called me a prestitute. But I sin't a goin' to stand bein' called no hard name."

wouldn't have cared it he called mea presistate. But I atn't a goin' to stand bein' called no hard names."
"You shouldn't talk Freuch to Indies," said his Honor. "Baby, sweet child of the pavement, I sympathise with you, although there yet hovers an atmosphere of gin about your ruly lips. But the law must be reof gin about your rusy tipe. But the law most on respected. Ten days, Mary. Be virtuous, and you'll be correspondingly out of pocket."

"The cases are disposed of, and I am weary. Come, let us smile together. These harrowing scenes affect my

We retired, and smiled. So jegs the world along.

[Subject of Illustration.]

PANIC IN JERSEY CITY. An artist of the GAZETTE presents its readers with a aketch which well portrays the effect produced upon some of the residents by the powder explosion at the

DRAMATIC.

BARNUR'S HIPPODROKE was unusually crowded last reck in consequence of the new Chinese spectacle. JAKE Brant did a good average business during the week, with the exception of last Thursday matines and evening, when his bjos theatre was filled to overflowing. The leading stiraction was the lancers, in which thirty-dwe beautiful young ladies thrilled the audience. Mr. Berry's enterprise has placed him on the road to betterne.

fortune. Ninzo's did a fair business with Metamora. The Black Grook has taken its departure from this theaire to the Grand Opera House, where it is received with favor.

CASUA's was crowded on Thursday night by lovers og good music, anxions to witness a good cite.

AT HARST HILL's last Thursday night was suffices ing, and an unusually excellent variety entertainment

ing, and an unusually excellent variety entertainment was given in consequence. This Harrons of Le Farls flocked in vast numbers to their popular resort, and it seemed as if there was no lack of money. The pretty walter girls proved a powerful attraction. For the remaining theatres we refer the readers to lies Trooper's report.

TAKE NOTICE THAT THIS IS THE SECOND WERK OF OUR PRESENTATION ENTERPRISE. THE FIRST TABLE APPEARED LAST WEEK WITH FULL INSTRUCTIONS.

THE SEVENTEENTH PRECINCT

WHAT THE NEW CAPTAIN IS DOING-THE PATE OF THE POLICY SHOPS.

Captain Slebert, of the Seventeenth Precisct Police, made a raid on the policy shops in that ward, on Wed-nesday night. The men arrested were Thomas Quinn, who lives at 404 and deals at 92 East Houston atreet;

who lives at 404 and deals at 92 East Houston street; Carlton Webb, living at 120 Ein street, and celling at 250 East Houston; and John Spring, who operate at the corpus of Second avenue and First etreet.

Captain Slobert, in conversation with a Gamerus reporter, expressed his intention of breaking up policy shops in his practice, whousever they should be Shand. "They are a nuleance," said be, "which is taking the momey right out of poor people's pockets." Slobert has soon a great deal of New Tork police life, and he will implement the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will implement the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will implement the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will implement the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will implement the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will implement the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will implement the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will implement the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will implement the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will implement the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, which is taking the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, which is taking the second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be second great deal of New Tork police life, and he will be sec destacher."

Vely fav officers have changed about more than he. These transfers certainly give men much experience, which they would not otherwise receive. In 1800, Captain Stebert was appointed patrolimas, and since that time, in different capacities, he has successively been in the following precincts: Fourteenth, Trienty-first, Nimth, Twenty-seventh. Thirteenth, Trient, Totalt, Thirty-seventh. Thirty-first, Trienty-fourth, Seventh and Seventeenth, Enough changes, we should think, for a man only thirty-sight years old.

[Subject of Illustration.]
A MEGRO MONSTER.

L'PE IN A MUD-HOLE.

A correspondent in Nashville, Tenn., sende an article clipped from the Mashville Banner, which gives an interesting account of a wild negro known as Edmund, in Oblon county. He lives in a nude state, in a mud-hole, to cure what he calls a" blood faver." Through winter and summer he remains in his hole, and builde a fire mount it when his so old. He has stead this life for more than five years. For feed he chicips even, eachaif of which is fromes. Want of apace prevents surresponding to Banner's account, but we self a few words from our correspondent: "I was chopping down some trees, and my wife and children were gathering nuts near by, when this mounter appeared. He nearly frightened the life out of my wife and the girls, and though hedds not make any threatening desconstration I litted my are used in turn gays him a fright; for, thicking that I intended to kill him, he rate away half seared out of his senses, if he ever had any. The Banner cays that he should he taken care of, see I think so two.

[Subject of Illustration.]

A WARNING TO GAMBLERS.

Harry Heston is tond of games of chance, but is otherwise a good fallow. On Monday night he won a big ongratulate you—you are worth a fortune."

"How aq, yer Honor."

"Well, if you have a boy small enough to get into a man's pocket, you'll be a millionaire in no time. Where a that remarkable child?"

"He's got the measles, yer Honor, and a touch of the "He's got the measles, yer Honor, and a touch of the group."

"He's you do not deserve to be a matron. Ten days is the least I cat impose."

Mary left weeping.

"Solomon outil not, they extempted to rob him. Being seems on supposehing, the thirty out then hearing seems on supposehing, the faleve took to their heels.

The bullet cut through his opet sleeve, but he says he will take the says he will take the serving and gamble no more. A WARNING TO GAMBLERS.

(Subject of Blustration.)
A ROMANTIO ELOPEMENT.

Jacobs Lawrence, of Januarille, Oblo, was the good and decidal child of an infomous and drunken father, who was should be fill her to a wealthy debuuche for a rom of meetr. She was helpless, and would have been refetuation associated her the person of th

A YOUNG WOMAN'S DESPAIR AND EVICEDE.

According to an Earlish journal, a young girl employed as a domestic is a suburb of Leadon, was betrayed by one of the young man of the family, and, fading that he had no intention of marrying her, she procured a pistol and shot herself in the head. The wound was triffling, and a fellow servant wrenched the weapon from her; but so desperately injent was she on ending her life, that she excaped over a low wall, and running to a pond about a quarter of a mile distant, jumped in, and so ended her wretched life.

[Subject of Illustration.]

[Subject of Illustration.]
A POLITICIAN'S PERPLEXITIES.

A POLITICIAN'S PERPLEXITIES.

A noted politician, whose difficil position as artist of the Gararra has anustagly pictured, left we ber, on suddenly retting into high office, he was visited by his friends, (f) such of whom wanted to be put in effice. Although he felt inclined to have them pur out of office, (his own) still he acknowledged to himself that he was in a quandary. "I must dissemble," he murmured. The reader by referring to the cut will find him in the passive act of dissembling.

[Subject of Binstration.]

MOW STRANGERS ARE SWINDLED IN MEW YORK.

A gentleman from the West, intelly fell a victim to one of the numerous "saide" business exchanges of Rew York. The stranger had Western lands and wanted to exchange them for a house and lot up tewn. The manager had just such a house and lot; but as an extract of good faith, requested a deposit of one hundred dollars, which was to be deducted for the commission. The gentleman was to be at the office sext day. He westbere, but the manager wasn't, nor is he over likely to be again.

[Subject of Illustration.]
A MONSTROUS ORIME.

FEARFUL OUTRAGE BY NEGROES.

A white man tells of a nerrow escape he had from death at the hands of some Lousians negroes, who, after robbing him, prepared to burn him alive. The sound of some approaching wheels so alarmed them that they put the five out, stripped him and earried him to a stream. After tying some atoms to his body they throw him is and ran off. Providentially, the stones get loose

"INFRA DIG."

Mr. and Mrs. Braudly reside conservace in New Jerory (we wish to spare his feelings and will not be more particular.) They do not joy along well together, and initerly the old soman did not see the color of his monay. She wendered where he banked it, and knowing that he had just received a geodity ann, kepans eye es hits, which required no little ability, since she equints hideously. One evening she saw him dig a hole beneath a fallen true in which he deposited a bag. As soon as he departed, she went in for a dig, which, although tulte dig on her part, proved estinance. Analos have lost;
but when he learns the truth, duke may win,

[Subject of Illustration.]
FOOT-PADS AT WORK.

Statistics prove that crime is alarmingly on the in-crease. The robbert of Mr. Billet of New Orleans while sojourning in New York, by foot-pade, is addition al proof, if it were needed, that our police force should [Subject of Illustration.] HOW THANKSGIVING DAY AND EVE WAS SPENT.

EXPERIENCES OF THE NATIONAL POLICE

Last Tossilay the specials of the NATIONAL POLICE GARMEN received their assignments to work up Thanks-giving Day, evolding the besten track as much as possi-ble. The first to return with his budget was Am-Bou-Town, who, to do him justice, tells a herrowing tale.

AR-BOU-TOWN'S EXPERIENCE.

—I kum in ahead of the others, because I thou the reader ought to get through with the heavy busi-ness and go on to something light. When I had receiv-ed my assignment I returned to my boarding house. I the reader ought to get through with the heavy business and go on to something light. When I had received my assignment I returned to my boarding house. I ate nothing that day, although it was Evacuation Day. I was resolved to get turkey next day or bust. On descending next morning I saw hash. I said nothing, although I had missed my umbrells the night before.

I didn't want to overhaul that heab because I didn't want to occuse the landishy of leressy on a leral holiday, and girgham isu't good for dignetion. At dinner time I came in and the same object mot my gase. There had been a turkey; but some one had come is before we, and that turkey had gone. Beckless of what I did, I went home. There was no see in the house arcept the twins, and they were haveling. Mrs. A. B. T. and her mother had gone out. I generated with them enjoying their innocests prettle, and thriling what a fool my wife was to be out waiting while I was having a good time home. Those children had ferry horse-power langs. I had had usthing to ast for two days; also, I had an assignment to work up for you. I thought to myself Thembagiving Day is a great institution. When I heard Robinson singing somes and laughter, next door, I sympathical with him, and wished to the Leed he'd fall lowers in the with him, and wished to the Leed he'd fall lowers in the with him, and wished to the Leed he'd fall lowers in the with him, and wished to the Leed he'd fall lowers in the with him, and wished to the Leed he'd fall lowers in the with him, and wished to the Leed he'd fall lowers when which different treasures. In his different treasures, I had gone the weather the light time the leeds have a stream girl had left the weak below because the house we haunted.

I went down in the panity toose if I creatin's gui some brokes rivetnels. I had just discovered the remnants of oue, when a heavy hand was half one my choulder. Through the darkness I could see a pair of luminous eyes estarting at me. My hair rese.

Lynt the turkey down and left.

When I get to my bearin

P.S. The boys say they played a good joke off on me, but I don't see much of a joke in it, do you? From this melancholy recital, we turned to

MOSS TROOPER'S REPORT. Mose TROOPEN'S REPORT.

Sir.—The theatres were pretty well filled last Thursday, matince and evening, but with the exception of Wallack's, none of them did anything like a good Thunkegiving Day business. Many messagers who 'had counted on this day's receipts to carry them along, were deeply disappointed, and some, I feer, will have to go to the wal!. Notwithstanding the poorness of the times, many of the audience were in good spirits. There was a resliness about them, especially amongst the gods, which graw more apparent, as intermittent drinks prowhich grew more appearent, as intermittent drinks pr duced their natural effect. Many unemployed actor who had counted on twenty or thirty dollars, were and disappointed, and ambitious speculators who played with hastily selected companies, found to their cost that this was one of the worst Thankriving Days we have had for some years.

This iscertainly a gloomy view of the day, and we turn from it with a lingering hope that Cherubino may have a better report.

Sir—We had a jolly time last Thursday. George Jones, the "Count Joannes," got a retainer of fifty cents and proposed that we should go on a spree together. To this I consented. The first place we visited was a little back parlor near the Tombs. A noble justice was betting that Stonewall Jackson would run for aldermannext term, as we entered. "Ten days or ton dollars," his Henor saked of me. Said 1, "Ifit's all the same, I'litaks the ton dollars, as the highwayman said to the Mark. his Honor asked of me. Said I, "If it's all the same, I' is take the ten dollars, as the highwayman soid to the Marchioness of Kent." His Honer waved his hand and put on a profound look, thus sealing the late of hair a dozen imaginary drunks. Said he, "We don't went any of your bleated English talk here. I want you to understand that this is Thankegtying Day, and if I had Queen Victoria here, I'd commit her for contempt of court. I don't see what the judges on the other side are about." "How so, your Honor?" I asked. "Look here, Chernb, didn't you tell me the Queen didn't give any receptions?" Said I, "Most assuredly," "Well, and biswat yer eyes, sin't that contempt of court."

"Well, and blawst yer eyes, sin't tast contemps of courts"

"Ten days," I groaned, and we ull smiled.
From thence, sir, I-proceeded to several other places, and saw Monaleur Joseph Howard of the Star, hobnobbling with Controller Green and Theodore Tilton and Henry Ward Bescher, who was supposed to have preached a sermon in Elisabeth, but did not. Having met Joe at Delucation's with the aloresald party, they liquored and proceeded to draw up a bond of friendship in which Mr. Bescher was to pay Theodore twenty cents for editing "The Life of Christ," and Controller Green was to buy up half interest in the Star, giving, in return, the city's waitered stock and a promise to vote for the payment of the Star's bill against the city. William Shanka, of the Tribune, was pressing champegus cockialis and oyster suppers upon Mr. Herbert E. Mooney, of the GARETTM, and William C. Kingaly had just presented him with a $6,000 check for writing up the Brooklyn ring frauds.

John Morrisey was laying plans with Mr. Tilden for the reorganization of the police lores, and our resemble. President was exceuting a pas de deux with Mayor Havemeyer, who, by the by, said a good deal of seyer could be made out of the city government, which, aprepos of his former business, I considered nest. Both of these gentlemen pressed the Governor's secretarysity on your humble servant, who declined it in inver of the Honorable Wymins Johen, who at present has three free lunch routes and a lines duster at his disposel. From all this you will later that I got things mirest. I admit it as her as the apist is concerned, but not in the africt letter of your allegation. When I retired to my cauch letter of your allegation. When I retired to my cauch letter of your allegation. When I retired to my cauch letter of your allegation. When I retired to my cauch by rate who were enjoying a portion of my name as a Thankagiving fiest. I need not tell you that I was frightened, or that their caratic prescribings filled me with horror. It did, and I have here in the horrors over sines. I had as much turing del weedled an loast as I wantad. I trust, sir, you had the same. Yours, Chantugueo.

From this tate of debanchery we turn to

DOMERS'S EXPOSITIONS.

Dear Sir: The "Exacts," "City Paless," and Crackamen had, on the whole, a pretty fair Thanks, giving, though nothing like that of previous years.

Most of them stayed with their "molls" instead of patronizing the "boosing leas" of the creas fraternity. On another column I go into the details more faily. Enclosed a sketch of Red Das and his "moll"
at dinner.

at dinner.

On the first page will be found a sketch by Dodger of a notorious emakaman and his "moll." They have just finished their turkey and are roing in for a house.

Next in order came Bertle Harcouri's support:

Dear Bir-A sed case came underny softice last Thursday which but illustrates the maxim, that orime is reckless of the day. Fortunately, the sfair so far has been had done the notice.

been kept from the public. I have no mind to reveal the young lady's name, and so I shall call her Miss Emily Walt and presuppose that she lives on an aristo-cratic cross street sunning from Fifth svenue. On the day in question she was called upon by Mr. _____.

The reader may readily imagine why it is that I refrain The reader may readily imagine why it is that I refrain from publishing the wreich's name. Not for his sake, but for that of an inocent young girl who is now, that ruined fer life. For some time past this hactivous minister had seen paying devoted attention to this iragile blossom, taking her to the theatres. She, poor thing, laughed at her ungainly fop, but, girl like, proud of her victory, coquetted with him. At any rate, the offence was venial. On Thankegiving Day he called on her, the girl receiving him alone. After a little desultory conversation he produced a cornucopia of candy and gave it to her in honor of the day. As she conversed with him, she ate of the candy. Suddenly her sprightly with him, she ate of the candy. Suddenly her sprightly laugh cessed; she became heavy, drowsy; essayed to get up, and leave the room. A moment more, and she ley senseless in the villain's power. When she returned to consciousness, the villain was rone, and, with tottering, feeble steps, almost heart-broken, she hastened to inform her brother. The ather's race and horror may easily be imagined, and here is not a friend of the family who knows about the wretch's brain. He, fortunately for his own carcase, has disappeared; but we pray God that justice may speedligsovertake him. In the experience of one poor specifypowrest nim. In the capetion of family, Thankagiving Day proved most sad. Let us hope that the Lord will temper the wind to the storn lamb.

Another incident of Thanksgiving Day not reported by our specials, and yet presented on our first page, is of well on that memorable occasion, she is no less deter-mined that the old man and woman shall have a good feed. Thus it is that the ham comes up fin 'slice rect. Thus it is that the ham comes up in 'slices, and soundry joints of the turkey are non as insensits. When that effection and sin go together, on Thanksgiving Day, sure one account will dalasses the other at the last day. And so, kind friends, we hope you have all hist a merry Thanksgiving Day.

CURRENT NEWS CONDENSED.

TOVEMBER 21.—Great Britain takes exception to the in-Serious troubles have occurred at the coal mines non Screeton, Posp.; it is believed that all danger of vio-lesses has "passed to. H. W. B.'s counse will appeal from the dental of the bill of particulars....Demas

NOVEMBER 22.—The Pope says that Tyndall is "apiritical pirate."....Becretary Fish wants arbitra-tion of the Spanish difficulty....The Rev. Dr. Tiffasy of Washington delivered a lecture in Baltimore for the benefit of the Washington Monument fund; President Grant several members of the Cabinet, and other distinguished men were present....The trotting race for $6,000 in Sun Francisco was won by Judge Fullerton in three airsight hears... Want in Texas; grasshop-pers !!....J. R. Lowell probable Minister to Russia....A Third Assistant Secretary of the Treasury threatened. By this time Bristow talks about a Teath Seputy sub-Assistant to the Pourth Assistant; we shell be in bopes of a momination for a friend or two
...Fire in Syracuse. Loss $12,000....New Lebanon
Shakers shook at Steinway Hall....Raids by joiles on Shakers shook at Steinway Hall... Manes by jones on policy shops and disorderly house... The 'dentification men still definit, and the steamship companies show no signs of weakness... The American 1862had Pair closed... A man garroted and robbed in Forty-third street, near Fifth avenue... A man killed with third street, near Titth avenue... A man killed with a cart rung in a fight... A colored servant set fire to her employer's house in three places... A motion to admit Coroner Croker to ball was argued... The Grand Jury in Hadson County, N. J.; presented charges against the Board of Chosen Freeholders... A boller exploded in Jersey, City, and $25,000 damage was done. exploded in Jersey, City, and $35,000 damage was done. Novement 32.—Report says Spain is willing to pay indemnity to the U. S., on same basis as that paid to Great Britain....Feers of an uprising against loreigners in Brazil.....Severe storm destroyed nearly half the tewn of Tuscambia, Als. Tuelvo or more killed .....The resignation of Supervising Architect Mallet, was offered to Secretary Bristow and accepted....A court-martial has been ordered to investigate charges against L ent. Hodgson, an army officer on duty in Louisians....In the District S./s Burglary Mr. Riddle anastronet for the necessation...A con-submitted an argument for the prosecution.... A cen-sus of the Indians in the Red Cloud Agency has been completed.... The official canvass in the 2d Virgin district, resu'ted in the election of the Hos. Joh district, resu'ted in the election of the Host-Goode, Democrat, over the Hos. James H. Fiath, Re-publican....The Hou. Carl Schura lectured on "Ed-ucational Problems"....In a test case under the excise laws, a verifiet was rendered against. Ilquo-desier for selling without a license....It is runouval that an arrangement would be effected between the Baltimore and Ohlo and the Eric Rallroads.

2

A MONSTROUS CRIME, P.ge S.

"This partial restitution," said Hare, during a par ration of some of his adventures, "will doubtless be laughed at by many, as strangely inconsistent with the aut out of which it grew; but I affirm that its motive was alneare, and I doubt not, strange as it may seem, that many who make great parade of their charities, give from a sum not a whit more honorably obtained, and perhaps not so liberally in proportion to their evil gains."

THE MYSTERY OF A FLAT-BOAT.

Being in funds, the depredators now travelled northward and began to prespect. One day, Harebeing short of provisions, turned his horse over to the care of his panions, and, throwing his rifle on his shoulder, set out in search of wild game. While exploring near the river, an object eaught his eye. It was a boat, which about a qu rter of a mile distant, shot into a bayou. Two men immediately sprang to the shore, drove a stake and fastened her securely. They then lifted some thing from the bottom of the boat and started in the direction of our highwayman.

SPT AND THIRP

as he was, Hare grew very curious to know what the men were about, and he quickly placed himself in a position where he could watch unobserved.

The men drew near him and haited at the decayed stump of a huge cotton tree, within a few yards of where the robber laid completely covered by the dense undergrowth. They booked around carefully, and then one said.

"This is the spot for us."
"Yes," replied the other, setting down an apparently heavy log which he had carried.

"Where shall Idig ?" said one, who carried a spade.
"Here; close by the stump—but hold on! Give me the shovel; I'll do it myself." Saying this, the last apeaker took the spade and commenced to dig briskly. A large hole being made, the beg was thrown in; and next followed a gold watch and chain which the digger took from his pocketand wrapped in a piece of tarpaulis. The hole was then filled up and covered with brushwood.

A MUSIC TEACHER'S DODGE. Page 8.

SKETCHES

CRIME

No. I.--Continued.

Extraordinary Career or Joseph T. Hare.

HARE BECOMES A PROFESSIONAL HIGH-WAYMAN-THE ROBBERY OF A COUN-TRYMAN-STRANGE GENEROS-ITY - MURDER-BURIED TREASURE.

Hare, now a full grown man, not devoid of intellect, began to ponder over the past, and think of the future. He thought of the place which, as a wild boy, he had loved; and he wished to return to it, not as he had left it-s degraded outcast-but, redeemed by wealth into an object of respect.

It has been said, with some degree of truth, that every Jack has his Gil; and Hare, in his lonely wanderings and better moments-for there are few beings who are and better moments—for there are lew beings who are wholly bad—bethought him of a pair of loving eyes which never looked reproachinily on him. It was the thought of a sweet, kind face, which prompted him to dwell on the ultimate possibility of better things. Ah! had the fool at that moment cut the devil from him, and turned his thoughts and best energies to honest dealings, he would have saved his soul alive; but when he dreamed of the good intrine which might lead him. he dreamed of the good fortune which might lead him back to the gentle creature who had made him her hero and heart's idol, it was of a different kind to that which it should have been. He resolved to acquire wealth and then abandon crime forever. He would vindicate himself in his native place, by an ostentatious display of his property, and carry off his mistress in triumph. Poor dupe of a false glitter, he never once glanced to the shade where pitfalls abounded. He had no dread of the perils of his chosen path, nor did he shrink at that fearful sight which, had his mind's eye penetrated the gloom, would have filled him with awe.

BY CRIMINAL MEANS,

Hare still belonged to the guard, and the mode of robbery which he adopted was not likely, unless modified, to enrich him with much speed. He therefore decided to quit office and become seizing money-bars and mail-bags, instead of going for an occasional pocket. The condition of the Seuthern and Western country during the first year of the present century was peculiarly tempting and profitable to knights of the road. Railroads and ateamboats were unknown, and even continuous lines of stages were seldom to be found except between cities of the most ex-tensivo note. That huge river, the great artery of the continent, whose turgid waters now roar and groan under propulsive monsters, bearing rich freights, irom point to point, along abores teeming with prosperous themsands, was navigated only by the raft and flat-boat, and its silent and almost desolate abores gave no invita-tion either to the fraveller setting north or to the blood-hamnes following on his trail. seunds following on his trail.

A RIGHWATMAN,

The communications with the interior, even as far as Pittsburgh, Pa., were conducted mainly by travelling parties through the body of the country, and the domestic exchanges between the North and South were in a great measure dependent upon a horse's speed and a pair of holters.

Those "good old times" were, as jar as travellers were

PRECKART WITH BORROR!

The amounts carried by travelling parties were very large, and a highwayman with a large imagination, and a disposition as sanguine as that of Hare, might calcu-late without any very great extravagance upon becom-

Looking about him for two congenial companion whem he soon found, he went out into the ro the interior of the State for his first energy.

A GENEROUS MORBER

Hare in his confession tells the following story of himself: On one occasion he waylaid a countryman, and took from him two hundred and ofty-seven dollars. The anfortunate man protected that it was all he had in the world, and described the desperate strait to which he would be reduced, if left penniless in New Orieana. Hare was touched, and gave him back forty dollars, tell-ing him to thank his lucky stars that be had met with man of some principle.

"Let this be a lesson to you," said the robber. "If we had not fell in with you this night and treated you as we have done, it is ten to one but some designing swindler would have picked you up to-morrow, and plundered you of every cent."

The victim did not seem to appreciate this grim humor, but struck with wonder at the strange philosophy which made robbery an act of friendly courtesy, moved off with his hat in his hand, before the range of a levelled persuader—formidable looking weapon in those days—which insured his not giving the alarm. ed you of every cent."

FEARFUL OUTRAGE BY NEGROES. Page S.

"I think that'll do," said he; "there's safety for you."

"Yes," replied his companion. "When we'get back
"Yes," replied his companion. to Baton Bouge we can learn whether he has been missed, and whether there's to be any fuss about him. If all's well, we'll come back to Baton Rouge, after our trip to New Orleans, and drop the boat business for heigh and i mond eyes: Dimo It: cella miles as be

Ida," torre

para mosi man Ku man Ku feari ther ble. them wom term Mrs. Badi the is se pois bein in It tion

TREASURE TROVE.

No sooner had the boat and men disappeared from sight than Hare crept from his hiding place, and drawing his broad bladed knife, commenced undoing the work that had just been done. In a few minutes he work that had just been done. In a few minutes he reached the deposit and eagerly drew them to the surface of the earth. Taking one of the bags, he did not pause to untie the string, but cutting it with an eager slash, soon satisfied himself as to its contents, for they were filled with gold and silver.

It was now growing dark, and thrusting a pocket-book and the watch and chain in his pocket, he returned swiftly to where his fellows were encamped.

BLOOD MONEY.

The coin having been counted, was found to amount to coin naving been counted, was round to amount to over four thousand dollars. Hare then drew forth the pocketbook, which contained notes for three hundred dollars. On closely examining the pocketbook he found the leather stained with spots of blood, as if it had been dabbled by

THE MOIST PINGERS OF A MURDER

and the chaning of the heavy case was also smeared with blood. Here, who had never yet countenaced murder, much less engaged in it, shuddered at the sight, but he put the watch back in his pocket without washing it, and the wallet found a hiding place in his oresut pocket. The money was divided equally smooth band, and placed in the secret beits which at

At daylight next morning the papers were examined, and the owner's name was discovered to be J. C. Camp-

Making a private memorandum of this for his own use, Hare led his comrades to the place, and simply stating that the watch and wallet were too dangerons to carry, re-buried it.

Arrived at Baton Rouge, Hare, instead of joining his Arrived at Baton Rouge, Hare, instead of joining ans-companions in a debauch, went to work a la detective, and after much patient investigation, learned that Campbell, the murdered man, was a young planter from Tennessee on his way to New Orleans to purchase-slaves. He had stopped at Baton Rouge to visit a bre-ther in business there, and had finally taken passage in a flat-boat owned by two brothers named Carter. This was all he cared to know at present, so after making preparations to quit the place, he departed, but not be-fore he had written and posted a letter to the murdered man's brother, the contents of which will be given the reader in the next number of the GAESTIE.

[TO BE CONTINUED.]

Shocking Gracity to a Brother.

Shocking Gruelty to a Brother.

News comes from the Canton of Tessin to the Continental Herald of a savage act on the part of the chaplain of Meride, in the District of Mendrislo. The brother of the chaplain had given, it is supposed, some signs of mental aberration, which led the latter—so he states—to pressure that his brother had some designs upon his life. Under this pretext he was shut up in a misorable room, with but a small opening in it, strongly guarded by barn of iron, through which his meals were handed. ers of from through which his meals w One day, laterly, the sister of the victim, who was in the habit of taking his meals to the window, observed that the last ration had not been withdrawn, and she on entering the den, which had not been opened for a On entering the den, which had not been opened for a long time, Gasiano Roncati—such was his name—was found at the loot of a bed of rotten straw, in contact with the bare earth in a dying state. His beard waslong and untended, his body was covered with bristles rather than bair, and his thin looks spread over his shoulders than bair, and his thin looks spread over his shoulders the bair, and his thin looks spread over his shoulders than anything rather; the state is set fit for description; but seems than keep the being had been fact that for tan years this miserable being had been seed up. In this den with no other company than the behalf up in this den with no other company than the salido, which had woven their webs from roof to floor. The zero was called to give the last consolations of religion to the poor eresture, but when he arrived this victim of a brother's barbarity had been released from his saliering.

im of a request's barvarity and the settings.

When these facts became known, there was a cry of ladiguation relied throw a 't'. Sastrict at the savalery o. an act happity without frequent parallel; and no alight amount of disastifaction has been expressed that the local authorities have been alow in their action to punish the author of the cruel deed. It is stated that the somewhat too liberal tendencies of Roncatt in column and in matters of expenditure did not suit the opinion and in matters of expenditure did not suit the avaricious character of the chaplain, his brother, and that in this may be found the motive for the incarcera-tion of the victim. It is not yet known whether the police authorities have taken action in the affair. It is difficult to conceive that such an event can be passed by

THE POLITICIANS' MURBER.—The attorneys for Cor-THE POLITICIANS MURBER.—The attorneys for Coroner Groker, Mearn. Fellows, Clinton and Wingste, appeared before Judge Barrett. Col. Fellows saked that the trial be set down for the earliest possible time, and Judge Barrett appointed Tuesday, December 1. The prisoner was then remanded to the Tombs. The decision on the motion to admit the Coroner to bell is to be made known to-morrow morning.

Thomas McQuade, who keeps a liquor saloon at 256 East Thirty-Sith street, was married on Sunday, at a state-i-a-law, Ann McGuyre, caused his arrest on charge of atcaling $36 from her.

I now the start of

THE MARTIN MYSTERY

FULL DESCRIPTION OF THE MISSING CHILDREN.

ME HEARTLESS ARBUCTOR SEDUCES ONE OF HIS VICTIMS, THEN CAR-RIES HER OFF.

Trials and Sufferings of a Patient Wife.

A MYSTERIOUS CARD.

nee of the Martin children bas : asiderable light thrown upon it, although their where outs is still wrapped in the despest gloom. The name of the abducted are, Ida, aged fitteen ite, aged thirteen, and Charlie, aged ten. Ida is de-

fle, aged turrers, so the state of the state arkably brilliant eyes, and an exceedingly dark com

The abductor appears to be one John Dimond, who a figured often in our Police Court. He is the sam m whom officer McCann beat. He is described as be ing about five feet nine inches in height, heavy build, black hair and eyer, dark complexion, is eripple in the right hand end has lost the first joint of his forefluger. He is about 40 years of age. Accompanying the disappeared is Wallace Dimond, five feet five luches in height, gray eyea, with east in one, light complexion and light brown hair, aged 31 years; also Hubert Dimond, about five feet five inches in beight, light hair, eyes and complexion. The wives of John and Wallace Dimond were also of themarks. out fire feet nine inches in height, heavy build of the policy of the party.

It appears that Ida and a young woman named Priscella Nickerson lived at the house of Dimond, about 7 miles north of the city in Washington township. Ida, as before stated, being very pretty, caused Dimond to be very particular in his attentions to ber. In the pre be very particular in us attentions to her. In the pre-sence of his wife he frequently called her his "dear Ida," any remonstrance on her part being received with torrents of abuse, beatings, etc. Every circumstance was made the means and object of ingratisting himself was made the means and object of ingratisting himself into the favor of the girl Ida. Day after day, like a skilful schemer, he weaved his net. He then began making his final approach by telling her of his admira-tion for her, praising and dwelling upon her beauty, un-

IN AN UNGUARDED MOMENT, SHE FELL

victim of his h-llish designs.

On being reproached by his neighbors, for this irreparable injury inflicted upon a mere child, he used the most violent language, declaring that he would kill any man who dared to criticise his actions.

owing the character of the man, his neighborn Enowing the character of the man, his neighbors, fearing the execution of his threats, desisted from further remonstrance, and avoided him as much as possible. The happened about the first of August last. He then shortly after introduced into his bousehold a woman of had repute, with whom he openly lived on terms of intimacy, despite the intreaties of his wife, Mrs. Dimond is described as being a very quiet woman. Sadness always present upon her countenance, indicated the grawing of the worm at her heart. At one time she is said to have said: "If Ida does not go away I will polson both him and her," and on another occasion, on heare angestioned as to the cases of her sadness resided. nestioned as to the cause of her sadness reulied.

being questioned as to the cases of new sources replied, "It is heart discase," and on being more closely questioned, responded, with a weary smile, "There are many things in my heart which I will not speak of." Of late she has viewed the actions of her husband with apathy, no sign of motion expressing the even, silent misery she was nursing in her bosom.

are that previous to his departure Dimond It also appears that previous to his departure Dimond isposed of all his goods and chattels, informing his eighbors that he intended moving to Fort Wayne. He had at the time in his possession a knife and a violin be-longing to Mrs. Josephine Noose, a revolver, the pro-perty of James Hopple, and another, that of Frank Closs. All of these articles he carried with him. On Closs. All of these articles he carried with him. On the first day of October he finally left Washington township, and, after much persuasion, entreaty and coercion, induced Ida to accompany him, saying that he intended to settle in town. The first day of their departure they stopped in a hottom near St. Mary's River, from which place he sent Aiva Martin, a brother of Ide, to Brinfield, even miles west of Kondalville, to procure the person of Ellie, who we living at the above mentioned place with her mother, (Mr. and Mrs. Martin have been separated for a number of years). Ellie, at first, would not accompany him. He then infermed her that "Sister Ida was dangerously ill, and if she wished to see the last of her, to come immediately." Sisterly affection swept away all wavering, and without informing her mother, Ellie left.

State. She was told a return, and at once prepared to do so. In the meditime Dimond, becoming alarmed, and fearing that his intentions would be discovered, hastened his departure a day sooner than at fl. at intend-ed; consequently, on Miss Nickerson's return, abe found the house deserted, and all her clothes and per-

Dimond, on his first appearance, assumed the name of Wilson. He then left, and after an absence of three years, again returned, under the name of John Wilson Dimond.

Since the departure of the Dimonds, two letters have Since the departure of the Dimonds, two letters have been received; one of them by a Mr. Price, the father-in-law of Wallace, and another by Chas. O'Briso, dated Griggwille, Ill., Oct. 8. Both of these letters were algaed by Wallace. He made no mention of the Martins, simply stating that they were well, were encamped upon the Illinois river and would proceed to Kaness. It is believed that these letters are intended to act as a billed in order to acceptant the course Mr. Martin in.

card were the following devices: Pan eye, a rectining woman and a safe; entwiced around these the motto, "Secret unto death," and a simple of lorders indiscriminately scattered. On the back of the eard was written: "The Union Secret Society. The lady's irlend, Be charitable to all. God's will be done. We delend those we love. We help the sifficted. We are secret unto death."

The object of the card it is impossible to ascertain. It remiers still more so the obscurity of the absent ones. The post mark was St. Anne, III.

Mr. Martin is exerting his utmost to recover his children, and we sincerely hope that his efforts may not prove fruitiess.—Fort Wayne Gassie.

What the Police Broom is Dolog.

On Saturday night the police awept their respective wards as clean as they could for Sunday. In the Sixth Ward, Capt. Lowery closed the dance houses at 37 and 41 Mulberry street, and at 14 Baxter street. At 7 Mulberry street, Michael Mann, the pro-prietor, and fifty inmates, at 41 Mulberry street, Raphael De Hanse, the proprietor, and forty of the immates, and Eille, who was living at the above mentioned place he her mother, (Mr. and Mrs. Martin have been sepaad for a number of years). Eille, at first, would not send for a number of years). Eille, at first, would not send for a number of years). Eille, at first, would not send for a number of years). Eille, at first, would not tends to pursue—the elder Dimond undoubtedly having tends to pursue—the elder Dimond undoubtedly having tends to pursue—the lefter Dimond undoubtedly having tends to pursue—the elder Dimond undoubtedly having
tends to pursue—the elder Dimond undoubtedly having
tends to pursue—the elder Dimond undoubtedly having tends to pursue—the place of the properties, and at 14 Baxter tends to pursue—the price of the sum time to some immediately." Elderly affection swept to some immediately. At I Muiberry street, Man at 14 Baxter to street. At 7 Muiberry street, Michael Mans, the protends to pursue—the elder Dimond intends to pursue—the idea to see the sat of tends to pursue—the selder Dimond intends to pursue—the pursue.

In the fixth Ward, Capt. Lower at 14 Baxter house at 87 and 41 Muiberry street, and at 14 Baxter tends to pursue—the tends to pursue—the to see the sat of the properties, and fity immetes, at 1 Muiberry street, Rephael to send the pursue—the tends to pursue—the t

gore, and many other weapons were taken from the prisoners. Capt. Lowery was compelled to Jurn out account destitute lodgers to make room for his pris-

In the Pourth Ward Capt, Williams closed a disorder Is the Fourth Ward Capt, Williams closed a disorder-ly house at 1te Rossevelt street, and locked up eighteen persons. Is the Tenth Ward Capt, Ullman raided 149 East Houston street and arrested twenty-four men and women. Some dens of squallor, irequented by sailors, were closed by Capt. Caffrey in the Firth Ward. In the Eighth Ward Capt, McDonnell closed a policy shop at 157 Thompson attest, and a gambling house at 152 Thompson street. The proprietors, George Van Voorst and Wm. Parsons, aliae Buffalo Bill, both white, Voorst and Wm. Parsons, siles Buffalo Bill, both white, and thirty-seven players, mostly negroes, were captured. Greene, Wooster, and Mercer streets, and Broadway were then cleared. The result of this raid was the arrest of twenty-ine of street walkers.

In the Fifteenth Ward Capt, Van Dusen arrested Siteen street walkers between Clinton place and Union square. In the Ninth Ward Capt, Kennedy closed twelve places. Capt. Steers cleared Broadway and closed a gambiling house at 155 West Thirtieth street, where he arrested the proprietor, Henry Watson, and nine gamblers.

WOLF BOYS.

The following has been written of children in India who have been carried off by wolves, by Max Muller. One was bound by Hindus who had gone hunting wolves in the neighborhood of Mynpuri; had been burnt out of the den, and was brought here with the seem and wounds still on him. In his habits he was a perioct wild animal in every point of view. He drank like a dog, and liked a bone and raw meat better than anything else. He would never remain with the other boys, but bide away in a dark corner. Clothes he never would wear, but tore them sp into fine shreds. He was only a few months among us, as he got fever and gave up cating. We kept him for a time by artificial means, but eventually he died.

The other boy found among wolves is about thir een or fourteen years old, and has een here almost six. He has learned to make sounds—" seak he cannot; but he ricely expresses his anger and joy; work he will st times, a little, but he likes eating better. His civiliza-tion has progressed so far that he likes raw most less, though he still will pick up bones and sharpen his At the Lucknow madbouse there was an elderly fellow only four years ago, and may be alive now, who had been dog out of a wolves' den by a European doctorwhen, I forget, but it must be a good number of years

The facility with which they get along on four feethands and leet—is surprising. Before they eat, or taste food they smell it, and when they don't like the smell bey throw it eway.

From a number of cases, more or less fully attested, of wolves taking compassion on a child, and bringing it up together with their own cubs, I select the following: A trooper, sent by the native Governor of Chandour to demand payment of some revenue, was passing along the bank of a river about noon, when he saw a large female wolf leave her dee, followed by three wholps and a little boy. The boy went on all fours, and when the trooper tried to catch bim, he ran as fast as the whelps, and kept up with the old one. They all entered the den, but were dug out by the people with pickaxes, and the boy secured. He struggled bard to rush into every bole or den they came near. He became alarmed when he saw a grown up person, but tried to fly at children and bite them. He rejected cooked meat with disgust, but delighted in row flesh and bones, putt'ng them on the ground under his paws, like a dog. They tried to make him speak, but could get nothing from him but an anger growl or sparl.

A REMARKABLE CASE. Another instance happened at Chuprs. In March, 1843, a man and his wife went out to cut their crop of wheat. The woman was leading her boy, who had lately recovered from a severe scald on the left knee. While his parents were engaged, the child was carried off While his parents were engaged, the child was carried off by a wolf. In 1840, a wolf, with three cubs, was seen about ten miles from Chupra, tollowed by a boy. The boy, after a fierce resistance, was caught, and was recognized by the poorgenitivator's widow, by the mark of a scald on the left knee, and three marks of the teeth of an animal on each side of his back. He would eat nothing but raw flesh, and could never be brought to speak. He used to mutter something, but never articulated any word distinctly. The front of his knees and elbows had become hydened from going on all fours with the wolves. In November, 1850, Capt. Nicholeties ordered this coy to be sent to Uol. Siceman, but he got alarmed and ran to a jungle.

The same applies to a third case, vonched for by the Rajsh of Hasunpoor, which side, however, nothing casential, except that the boy, as seen by him in 1848, had actually short heir all over his body, which disappeared when he took to cating sait. He could walk on his legs, but he could not speak. He could walk on his legs, but he could not speak. He could walk on his legs, but he could not speak. He could be made to understand signs very well, but would utter sounds like wild animals.

Another, a fourth case, however, he rouched for again by European witnesses. Col. Gray, who commanded the First Onde Local Infantry at Suitanpoor, said Mrs. Gray, and all the officers of the place, saw a boy who, in 1840, had been caught while trotting at ng on all ions by the side of a wolf. He could never be made to speak, and a last ran away lot the jungle. by a wolf. In 1840, a wolf, with three cubs, was seen

OTHER CASES.

A fifth case rests on the evidence of a respectable land holder of Bankespoor, in the estate of Hasunpoor (called Zoolinkar Khan). Here, too, the boy, who had been six years old when carried off, and was ten when rescued, could not be brought to speak, though it was easy to communicate with him by signs.

Another statement of a woll-boy is given, but as it reats on native evidence only, I will only add that this boy slao, when caught, walked on all fours, are raw meat, and smelt like a wolf. He was treated hindly, but though be lerrar to behave better and walk uprightly, he never could understand or utter a word, theugh be seemed to understand algue. One witness states that he uttered the name of a liftle girl who had been kind to him (Aboodees) and that he showed some stinchment to her, but this essuincents it is not confirmed by other witnesses.

gambling house at 158 West Thirdeth street, where he arrested the proprietor, Henry Watson, and nine gamblers.

James Claney, sged-20, of Fitty-sixth street and Seventh avenue, has been arrested. In December, 1870, at Fifty-third attested. They all share one feature in common, which is of importance to the student of language more even than to the student of at Fifty-third attest and Broadway, Claney garroted and plundered Mr. Alfred Worth. For this dual crime he served two years and six months in the penicationy.

BCOOPED " Page 4

IZIN THE NICK OF TIME Pog-

This Thrilling Story was commenced in No. 1511. Back Numbers can be obtained from all News Dealers.

"THE MONK;"

PRIDE BEFORE A FALL.

BY M. G. LEWIS.

CHAPTER II .- (CONTINUED)

With these words be flew heartly from the grotto Ambrosio remained in his former attitude, reflecting or the youth's unsecountable behavior. He was inclisuspect the derangement of his senses; yet the general tenor of his conduct, the connection of his ideas, and calmness of his demeanor till the moment of his quitting the grotto, seemed to discountenance this con-ecture. Af er a few minutes Rosario returned He again scated himself upon the bank; be reclined his check upon one hand, and with the other wiped away the tears which trickled from his eyes at intervals.

The monk looked upon him with compassion, sud for bore to interrupt his meditations. Both observed to some time a profound silence. The nightingale had now taken her station upon an orange tree fronting the bermitage, and poured forth a strain the most m choly and melodious. Rosario raised his head, and listened to her with attention.

"It was thus," said be, with a deep drawn sigh, "it was thus that, during the last month of her unhappy life, my sister used to sit listening to the nightingal Poor Matilda! she sleeps in the grave, and her broken heart throbs no more with passio

"You had a slater?"

"You say right, that I had. Alas! I have one no longer. She sunk beneath the weight of her sorrows in the very spring of life."

What were those sorrows ?"

"The; will not excite your pity. You know not the power of those irresistible, those fatal sentiments to which her heart was a prey. Father, she loved unfortu-mately. A passion for one endowed with every virtue, for a mau—oh! rather let me say for a divinity—proved the bane of her existence. His noble form, his sp acter, his various talents, his wiedom solid, wonder ful, and glorious, might have warmed the bosom of the most insensible. My sister saw him, and dared to love though she never eared to hope,"
"If her love was so well bestowed, what forbade her to hope the obtaining of its object?" Father, before he knew her, Julian had already plighted his vows to a bride most fair, most heavenly!

Yet still my sister loved, and for the husband's sake she doted upon the wife. One morning she found means to escape from our father's house: arrayed in humble weed, she offered herself as a domestic to the consort of her beloved, and was accepted. She was now continually in his presence, she strove to ingratiate herself into bis favor: she succeeded. Her attentions attracted Julian's notice: the virtuous are ever grate ful, and he distinguished Matilda about the rest of her

"And did not your parents seek for her? Did they submit tamely to their loss, nor attempt to recover their wandering daughter?"

"Ere they could find her she discovered herself. Her tove grew too violent for concealment; yet she wishe not for Julian's person, she ambitioned but a share o his heart. In an unguarded moment she confessed her affection. What was the return? Dotting upon his wife, and believing that a look of pity bestowed upor other was a theft from what he owed to ber, he drove Matilds from his presence: he forbade her ever sgain appearing before him. His severity broke her heart: she returned to her father's, and in a few months after was carried to the grave."

Unhappy girl! Surely her fate was too severe, and Julian was too cruel."

"Do you think so, father?" cried the novice with vacity. "Do you think that he was cruel?" wivacity. Doubtless I do, and pity her most sincerely."

"You pity her? you pity her? ob, father! father

The triar started: when, after a moment's pause, Rosario added with a faltering voice, "for my sufferings are still greater. My sister had a friend, a real friend, who pitied the acuteness of ber feelings, nor reproache ber with her inability to repress them. I—! I have no friend! the whole wide world cannot furnish a hear that is willing to participate in the sorrows of mine."

As he uttered these words, he sobbed audibly. The friar was affected. He took Rosario's band, and pressed

It with tenderness

You have no triends, say you? What, then, am I? Why will you not confide in me, and what can you lear!
My severity? Have I ever used it with you? The diguity of my habit? Rosario, I lay aside the monk, and bid you consider me as no other than your friend, you Well may I assume that title, for never die father. Well may I assume that the lor aver du pirent watch over a child more fondly than I have watched over you. From the moment in which I deat checked you. I perceived sensations in my become till then unknown to me; I found a delight is your society which no one's else could afford; and when I witnessed watched over you. From the moment in which I first beheld you. I perceived sensations in my become till vince methat I never should survive its loss. I resolved, then unknown to me; I found a delight is your society which no one's else could afford; and when I witnessed the extent of your genius and information, I rejoiced as loss a fether in the respections of the conaside your fears; speak to me with openness; speak to me. Bosario, and say that you will confide in me. It my aid or pity can alleviate your distress——"

Yours can; yours only can. Ah! father, how willingly would I unveil to you my heart! how willingly te weight. But oh! I fear! I fear-What, my son ?"

"That you should abhor me for my weakness; and the reward of my confidence should be the loss of you

"How shall I reassure you? Reflect mon the who of my past conduct, upon the paternal tenderness which I have ever shown you. Abhor you, Rosario? It is no longer in my power. To give up your society would be to deprive myself of the greatest pleasure of my life. They reveal to me what afflicts you, and believe me while I solemply awear-"Hold!" interrupted the novice.

Swear, that whatever be my secret, you will not oblige me to guit the monastery till my noviciate shall omise it faithfully; and as I kept my vows to yon, may Christ keep his to mankind. Now, then, ex. plain this mystery, and rely upon my indul gence." "I obey you. Know then—Oh! how I tremble to

"I obey you. Know then—Oh! how I stemule of name the word. Listen to me with pity, reverend Ambrosio. Call up every latent spark of human weakness that may teach you compassion for mine! Father!" continued be, throwing himself at the friar's feet, and pressing his hand to his lips with engerness, while agitation for a moment choked his voice; "father!" continued he, in faltering accents, "I am a woman!"

The abbot started at this unexpected avowal. Pros-trate on the ground lay the feigned Rosario, as if awaiting in stlence the decision of his judge. Astonishment on the one part, apprehension on the other, for some minutes chained them in the same attitudes, as if they had been touched by the rod of some magician. At length recovering from his confusion, the monk quitte the grotto, and sped with precipitation towards the abbey. His action did not escape the suppliant. She sprang from the ground; she hastened to follow him, overtook him, threw herself in his passage, and embraced Ambrosio strove in valu to disengage him

"Do not fly me!" she cried. "Leave me not abandened to the impulse of despair! Listen, while I excuse my imprudence; while I scknowledge my sister's story to be my own! I am Matilda; you are her beloved."

If Ambrosio's surprise was great at her first avow and the surprise was great as the train of the upon hearing her second it exceeded all bounds. Amused, embarrassed, and irresolate, he found himself incapable of pronouncing a syliable, and remained in silence gazing upon Matilda. This gave her opportunity to continue her explanation, as follows:

"Think not, Ambrosio, that I come to rob your bride "Think not, Ambrosio, that I come to rob your bride of your affections. No, believe me; religion alone deserves you; and far is it irom Matilda's wish to draw you from the paths of virtue. What I feel for you is love, not licentiousness. I sligh to be possessor of your heart, not lust for the enjoyment of your pers. s. Deign to listen to my vindication: a few moments will convince you that this holy retreat is not polluted by my vince you take not you may great me your compassion without trespessing against your vows."—She seated herself, Ambrosio scarcely conscious of what he did, tollowed her example, and she proceeded in her dis-

"I sprang from a distinguished family: my father we chief of the noble house of Villanegas; he died while I was still an infant, and left me sole helress of his immense possessions. Young and wealthy, I was soug in marriage by the noblest youths of Madrid; but no o succeeded is gaining my affections. I had been brought up under the care of an uncle possessed of the most solid judgment and extensive erudition; he took pleasure in communicating to me some portion of his know-ledge. Under his instructions my understanding se-quired more strength and justness than generally falls to the lot of my sex; the ability of my preceptor being aided by natural curiosity, I not only made a considerable progress in sciences universally studied, but in able progress in sciences universally studies, out in others revested out to few, and lying under censure from the blindness of superstition. But while my guardian labored to enlarge the sphere of my knowledge, he carefully inculcated every moral precept; he relieved me from the shackles of vulgar prejudies; he pointed out the beauty of religion; he taught me to look with adoration upon the pure and virtuous; and, wee is me! I have obeyed him too well.

"With such dispositions, judge whether I could observe with any other sentiment than disgust, the vice, dissipation, and ignorance which disgrace our Spanish youth. I rejected every offer with disdain; my hear youth. I rejected every offer with distain; my heart remained without a master, till chauce conducted me to the cathedral of the Capuebins. Oh! surely on that day my guardian angel slumbered, peglectful of his charge. Then was it that I first beheld you; you supplied the support of the charge them. superior's place, absent from illness. -You cannot but per the lively enthusiasm which your discours. Oh! how I drank your words! how your eld quence seemed to steal me from myself! I scarcely dared to breathe, fearing to lose a syllable; and while you spoke, methought a radiant glory beamed round your head, and your countenance shown with the majesty of a god. I retired from the shurch, glowing with admi-ration. From that moment you became the idol of my a goo. I retired from the enurch, glowing with admi-ration. From that moment you became the idol of my heart; the never-changing object of my meditations. I luquired respecting you. The reports which were made me of your mode of life, of your knowledge, piety, and self-denial, riveted the chains imposed on me by you once. I was conscious that there was no longer din my heart; that I had found the man whom I had till then sought in vain. In expectation of hearing you again, very day I visited your cathedral; you remained secluded within the abbey walls, and I always withdrew wretched and disappointed. The night was more propitious to me, for then you stood before me in my dreams ed to me eternal friendship; you led me throug the paths of virtue, and assisted me to support the vext tions of life. The morning dispelled these pleasing visions; I awoke, and found myself separated from you by barr.ers which appeared insurmountable. Time seemed only to increase the strength of my passions; I grew meiaceholy and despondent; I fied from society, and my bealth declined dally. At length, no longer able to exist in this state of torture, I resolved to assume the disguise in which you see me. My artifice was fortunate; I was received into the monastery, and succeeded in gaining your esteem.

"Now, then, I should have felt completely happy, had not my quiet been disturbed by the fear of detection The pleasure which I received from your society was embittered by the idea that, perhaps I should soon be deprived of it; and my heart throbbel so rapturously a wretch to despair; I shall still be permitted to see you, to converse with you, to adore you: Your virtues shall be my example through life; and when we expire our iles shall rest in the same grave.'

She ceased .- While she spoke, a thousand opposing sentiments combatted in Ambrosio's bosom. Surprise at the singularity of his advecture; confusion at her abrupt declaration : resentment at her boldness in en tering the monastery; and consciousness of the austerity with which it behaved him to reply; such were the entiments of which he was aware; but there were others also which did not obtain his notice. He per ceives not that his vanity was flattered by the praises bestowed on his eloquence and virtue; that he felt a se-cret pleasure reflecting that a young and seemingly love-ly woman had for his sake abandoned the world, and sacrificed every other passion to that which he had inspired; still less did he perceive, that his heart throbbed with desire, while his hand was pressed gently by Ma tiida's ivory flagers.

By degrets be recovered from his confusion: his ideas became less bewildered: he was immediately sen-sible of the extreme impropriety, abould Matilda be permitted to remain in the abbey after this avowal o her sex. He assumed an air of severity, and drew away

"How lady!" said he, "can you really hope for my permission to remain amongst us? Even were I to grant your request, what good could you derive from it? Think you, that I ever can reply to an affection,

"No, father, no! I expect not to inspire you with love like mine: I only wish for the liberty to be near you; to pass some hours of the day in your society; to obtain your compassion, your friendship and esteem. my request is not unreasonable."

"But reflect, lady! reflect only for a moment on the impropriety of my harboring a woman in the abbey, and that, too, a woman who confesses that she loves me. It must not be. The risk of your being discovered is too great; and I will not expose myself to so dangerous a temptation."

"Temptation, say you? Forget that I am a woman and it no longer exists: consider me only as a friend; as an unfortunate, whose happiness, whose life depends apon your protection. Pear not, lest I should ever call to your remembrance, that love the most impe the most unbounded has induced me to disguise my sex; or that, instigated by desires offensive to you yows and my own honor, I should endeavour to se duce you from the peth of rectitude. No, Ambrosio learn to know me better; I love you for your virtues; lose them, and with them you lose my affections. look upon you as a saint; prove to me that you are no more than man, and I quit you with disgust. Is it then from me that you fear temptation? from me, in whom the world's dazzling pleasures created no other entiment than contempt? from me, whose attachmen is grounded on your exemption from human frailty? Oh! dismiss such injusious apprehensions! think no-bler of me; think nobler of yourself. I am incapable of seducing you to error; and surely your virtue is estab-lished on a basis too firm to be shaken by unwarranted desires. Ambrosio! dearest Ambrosio! drive me not from your presence; remember your promise and au-thorize my stay."

"Impossible, Matilda! your interest commands me to refuse your prayer, since I tremble for you, not for myself. After vanquishing the impetuous coulitions of youth; after passing thirty years in mortification and penance, I might safely permit your stay, nor fear your inspiring me with warmer sentiments than pity: but to yourself, remaining in the abbey can produce none but stall consequences. You will misconstrue my every work and action; you will seize every circumstance with avidity which encourages you to hope the return of your affection; insensibly, your passions will gain a superiority over your reason; and, far from being repressed by my presence, every moment which we pass to esther will only serve to irritate and excite them. Believe me, unbappy woman! you possess my sincere compassion. I am convinced that you have hitherto acted mose the pursat motives; but thoust you are blind to the impredence of your conduct. In me it would be calipable not in open your eyes. I feel that duty obliges my treating you with herabness; I must reject your prayer, and remove every shadow of hope which may all to nourish sentiments so permictors to your repose. Matilda, you must from heace to-morrow." work and action; you will seize every circumstan your repose. Matilds, you must from hence to-morrow."

"To morrow, Ambrosio? to-morrow? Oht surely you cannot mean it! you cannot resolve on driving me to despair! you cannot have the cracity—"

"You have heard my decision, and it must be obeved; the laws of our order forbid your stay: it would be per jury to conceal that a woman is within these walts, and my yows will oblige me to deciare your story to the community. You must from hence. I pity you, but can do no more."

He pronounced these words in a faint and trembling voice; then, rising from his sev, he would have hestened towards the monestery. Uttering a loud shriek, Matilda followed, and detained him.

"Stay yet one moment, Ambrosio! Hear me yet apeak one word!"

"I dare not listen. Release me: you know my reso letion."

letton,"
"But one word! but one last word, and I have Leave me. Your entreatles are in vain: you must from hence to-morrow."

"Go then, barbarian! But this resource is still left

"Go thee, barbarian! But this resource is still left me."

As she said this, she sudderly drew a poniard. She rent open her garment, and placed the weapon's point against her hosom.

"Father, I will never quit these walls alive."
"Hold t hold, Matilda! what would you do?"
"You are determined, so am I; the moment you leave me, I plunge this steel in my heart."
"Holy St. Francis! Matilda, have you your senses? Do you know the concequences of your action? That saielde is the greatest of crimes? that you destroy your soul? that you lose your claim to salvation? that you prepare for yourself everlasting forments?"
"I care not, I care not," she repiled passionately: "either your hand guides me to paradise, or my own dooms me to perdition. Speak to me, Ambrosso! Tell me that you will conceal my story; that I shall remain your friend and companion, or this poniard drinks my blood.

As she uttered the last words, she lifted her arm, and made a motion is it to stab herself. The friar's eyes followed with dread the course of the dagger. She had torn open her habit, and her bosom was hall exposed. The weapon's point rested upon her left breast; and oh! that was such a breast! The moonbeams darting itill upon it enabled the mook to observe its darling whiteness: bis eve dwelt with insatiable avidjty unon the heauteous orb; a snesstion till then unknown filled his heart with a mixture of anxiety and delight; ing full upon it enabled the monk to onserve us car-ging whiteness; bis eve dwelt with insatiable avidity mon the beauteous orb; a sensation till then unknown filled his heart with a mixture of sanxisty and delight; a racing fite shot through every limb; the blood boiled in his veines, and a thousand wild wishes bewildered his imagination.

"Hold!" he cried, in an harried, faltering voice; "I can resist no longer! Stay then, enchantress! stay for my destruction!" he said; and, rushing from the place, hastened toward the monastery; he regained his cell, and thew himself upon his couch, distracted, irresolute and costuced.

hastened toward the monastery; he regained his cell, and threw himself upon his couch, distracted, irresolute and confused.

He found it impossible for some time to arrange his ideas. The scene in which he had been engaged had exercited such a variety of sentiments in his bosom, that he was incapable of deciding which was predominant. He was irresolute what conduct he ought to hold with the disturber of his repose; he was conscious that prudence, religion, and propriety, necessitated his obliging her to quit the abbey; but, on the other hand, such powerful reasons authorized her to stay, that he was but too much inclined to consent to her remaining. He could not avoid being fistered by Matilda's declaration, and at reflecting that he find undonaciously vanquished in heart which had realsted the attacks of Spain's noblest cavallers. The manuer in which he had quined her affectious was also the most satisfactory to his vanity; he remembered the same happy hours he had passed in Rossrio's society; and dreasted that void in his heart which parting with him would occasion. Besides all this, he considered, that as Matilda was wealthy, her favor might be of essential benefit to the abbey.

"And what do I risk," said he to himselt, "by authorizing her stay? May I not safely credit her affections? Will it not be easy to forget her sax, and still consider her as my friend and my disciple? Surely her love is as pure as she describes: had it been the offspring of mere licentiousness, would she so long have concaled it in her bosom? Would she not have employed some means to procure its gratification? She has done quite the contrary: she strove to keep me in ignorance of her sex; and nothing but the tear of detection, and cealed it in her bosom? Would she not have employed some means to procure its gratification? She has done quite the contrary: she strove to keep me in ignorance of her sex; and nothing but the fear of detection, and my instances, would have compelled her to reveal the secret: she has observed the duties of religion not less strictly than myself: she has made no attempt to rouse my slumbering plassions, nor has she ever conversed with me till this night on the subject of love. Had she been desirous to gain may affections, not my cateen, she would not have concealed from me her charms no carrolly: at this very moment I have never seen her face; wet certainly that face must be lovely, and her person beautiful, to judge by her—by what I have seen."

As this last idea passed through his imagination, a blush spread itself oper his sheek. Alarmed at the sentiments which he was indulging, he betook himself to prayer: he started from his couch, knelt before the beautiful Madous, and estrested her sastance in stifling such entimble smotlons: he then returned to his bed, and resigned himself to slomber.

He awoke hested and unrefreshed. During his sleep, his infamed imagination had presented him with none but the most voluptuous objects, Matilda stood before him in his dreams, and his eyes again dwelt upon her saked bresst; she repeated her protestations of eternal love, threw her arms round his neck, and loaded him with kisses: he returned them; he clasped her passionately to his bosom, and he—the vision dissolved. Sometimes his dreams pracented the image of his favorite Madous, and he fancied he was kneeling before her: as he offered up his vows to her, the eyes of the figure seemed to beam on him with hexpressible sweetness; he pressed his "pa to hers, and found them warm; the animated form started from the canase, embraced him affectionately, and his senses were unable to support delight so exquisite. Such were the scenes on which his thoughts were employed while skeeping: his unsatisfied desires jaced before him the lng Images, and he rioted in joys till then unknown to him.

He started from his couch, filled with confusion at the remembrance of his dreams: scarcely was he less ashamed when he reflected on his reasons of the former night, which induced him to authorize Matilda's stay. The cloud was now dissipated which had obscured his judgment; he shuddered when he beheld his arguments biszoned in their proper colors, and found that he had been a slave to flattery, to avarice, and self-love. If in one bour's conversation Matilda had produced a change so remarkable it his sentiments, what had he not to dread from he commining in the abbey? Become sensible of his danger, awkeened from his dream of confidence, he resolved to insist on her departing without delay; he began to feel that he was not proof against temptation; and that, however Matilda might restrain the restell within the bounds of modesty, he was unable to contend with those passions from which he islaely thought himself exempted.

"Agnes! Agnes!" he exclaimed, while reflecting on his embarrassments, "I already feel thy curse!"

(TO BE CONTINUED.,

Doings in the Quaker City.

DOCTOR OF DIVINITY IN TROUBLE-THREE NICE YOUNG MEN-RECEIVERS ON THE WING-THE BROKEN RING-PRO-PESSIONALS.

PRILADELPHIA, Nov. 12, 1874.

Our United States Court is now in session, and the uniness is progressing after the usual fashion. At the business is progressing after the usual manion. At the opening of the Court on Monday, a long pending case was disposed of, one on the list since 1872. It was that of the United takes against Alexander Cummings, and his sureties—to recover a deficiency of nearly $50,000. Cummings was a collector of Internal Revenue in the 4th District, and as such had to give bonds in $100,000 for the handing over of all mon-ies which might come into his hands. His suretie were J. Boyd Cummings, a brother, reputed to be rich.
Thomas W. Price, commonly called Tom Price the pugnacious Methodist, Cake, formerly Collector of the Port of Philadelphia, and one or two others. When Aleck went out of office, the business of which was managed in a way very peculiar, there was discovered to be a deficiency, and after numerous attempts to shave it down to a reasonable sum, and it had been to a friction less than $60,000, both agreed to it, and a verwhile, though, as I have said, Cammings was a defaulter, through Simon Cameron, who atill has some kind of power at Washington, and is the head Ringster in Philadelphia, he was appointed to a responsible position in the Post Office. Buch things would seem incredible did the Post Office. Such things would seem incredible did we not know that honesty is no recommendation with appointing power. President Grant will go out of office with a record far from being enviable, and those who cling to his skirts to the last, will not secape the taint of ceruption. Under him we have witnessed the reign of little men. A Quarter Sessions lawyer, of no reputa-tion at the Bar or elsewhere, facts no difficulty in being transferred to the more agreement at members of West transferred to the more agreeable atmosphere of Washington, and the more agreeable society and pay of Administration circles. I marvel Cummings did not get a position near the President. A defalcation of $20,000 abould make him a man of mark in sight of the capital dome. Up to this writing, none of the criminal case have been tried. Sammy Hopkins, the old chap who has a nack of making two dollar bills out of ones, has signi-fied his intention of pleading guilty. The testimony is of such a character that there is no chance of escaping conviction. John R. Hart and Christopher Richard the konlackers arrested in the act of " shoving queer. w'll be defended by Billy Husbands, and he will make vigorous defence for them, no doub'. Several person are under arrest for smuggling, but I suppose there will be inflaence enough brought to bear to stave off a trial.

THE BROKEN RING. Since the election the Ringsters Hill, Leeds, the God like Addicks and the immortal Stokley, seem to be struck with dismay. The blow their well beloved friend William received was so staggering a one, that the electric shock was imparted to them, and they all seemed to be fearfully and not surprisingly agitated. Not, how ever, disposed to take warning by the admonition, the Ringsters in Councils have proposed an ordinance to make the Mavor's salary $10,000 a year, and one also to make the Masor's salary $10,000 a year, and one also to pay $10,000 for a narrow strip of ground alongside of the William B. Meredith school house, 10 feet front, which to-day would not bring $5,000 es public sale. The people are moving in the different wards with a view to head off the crowd, and the prospect is that at the February election there will be now more staggering blows given. The conductors newspapers try to keep up the courage of the Ringsters, and "Chambargo Tom" who kan under new in the Chaton House pagne Tom," who is under pay in the Custom House feeling he must do something for his corrupt allies keeps up a fearful shricking. Something, he says, must be done for that noble man, the defeated District Attor nev. Though the people have unmistakably show their want of confidence in him, and their wish that h their want of confidence in him, and their wish that he should not again be thrust upon them. Tom shricks out: "Good Mr. Judges, make him Prothonotary of the courts under the new order of things. He is good enough for you, if the recople have cost him up." I con-tess it would only be showing their gratitude for past favors it some of them did help to put him in office, will they do it? Will they so far brave public opin If so, will any dare come before the public for re-elec-tion? That is the question. When it is considered that the Ring had the usus! crowd of repeaters about on election day, had the Custom House, Post Office, Ga Office, Public Buildings, New Post Office, Police Office, the Survey Department, the Law Department, and the Lord knows how many other depirtments to draw from, and could not elect William B. Manu, some idea may be formed of the feeling sgainst him as the chief Ringster? and the politician who touches him must expect to sink and the politician who toucles him must expect to sink as low in public estimation. The time has gone by when the people can be trified with. Let Hill, Leeds, Henzsey, Rowan, Addicks, Bunn, Downey, and all the other Ringsters, understand that.

THE DEPAULTING AND MARRYING PRIEST tral Station for a bearing, has such a scene been witpessed as on Monday last when J. W. Gerdeman the defaulting and marrying priest, was up for a hearing on the charge of misappropriating the monies of the parishtoners. A crowd gathered about the Mayor's omce early in the day, and as the morning advanced, it was added to largely, until by noon it had reached the size of a respectable town meeting. Several times the crowd besieged the lower portion of the building, and it was with difficulty it could be ejected. When the hearing was about to take place, and the doors were opened to the public, the people rushed in pell-mell until every inch of space was taken possession of, and a knot of hu. manity was tied about the door. Hundreds were unable to obtain admittance. The depositers, generally old women, having their deposit books with them, filled pretty much the railed space devoted to witnesses etc., and they presented a rather curious feature of the spectacle. The priest and his young wife remains in a private room until the Magistrate was ready for them, and then he slone came forth. But for the fact that the Magistrate had cautioned the assemblage against any demonstration, no doubt there would have been any demonstration, no count terre would have been a tumult, but as it was, order reigned. The depositors, to the number of half-s-dozen or so, were examined, and all told the same story. They had hadded over the money to Father Gerdeman, or the young Priest, and their understanding was that it was for the benefit of the church. A percentage was to be paid for the use of the money. Some of the money had been deposited four years ago, some in October, just before the priest departed. Though the accounts of the money denosited, and the amount used in the building of the church are in a confused state, it was estimated that from sixty to account thousand deliars was carried off by the to seventy thousand dollars was carried off by the marrying and defaulting priest. The District Attorney d was acting as trustee for the depositors, and as such was responsible under the act of Assembly relating to the appropriation of money by such. Jammie Heverin put in an appearance for the priest, and combatted the position of the Common wealth's representative. He denied that any 'rusteeship had been created, and expressed the utmost confidence of being able to demonstrate it to a jury, should the case go that far. Ald. Carpenter thought a prima facia case had been made out, and fixed the bail at $10,000. This was offered at once, and the priest and his wife were liberated. As the carriage in which they were conveyed to one of the hotels, left the Mayor's office, a crowd gathered about it, and threats of personal violence were made. The term d—d heretic, was applied to the de faulting priest, but instead of his being a heretic, h claims to be a better Catholic than the Bishep, in an believing in Papal Infallibility. Knowing how liable to err a priest is, it would be strange indeed if he should think a Pope incapable of erring.

andrivers or the wife. For some time past a house in Baimbridge street above Sixth, occupied by Albert Starr, has been under police surveillance, but the business of receiving was carried on so secretly that detection seemed impossible. How is was lately brought about, is a rathe Henry called at the Mayor's office, and Albert said that a number of second band garments were in his celler, and he professed not to know how they got there. Of-ficers were forthwith despatched to the house to see the somewhat remarkable phenomenon. The ele-rather the worse for wear, was found as described it was subsequently ascertained that it had been stolen from Fellman's second-hand clothing store, only a few doors off. The notice of the finding of the goods doors off. The notice of the finding of the goods seemed like the act of honest men, but as such it was not accepted by the officers, who knew the reputation of the Starr brothers. They were not, however, at once taken into custody; but the house, 616 Bainbridge st, was searched and a roll of carpet, and some other articles, supposed to have been stolen, found thereis. The arrest then took place, and on a hearing of the brothers, it was proved that a jimmy was found at the Bainbridge street house, which fitted the marks made in the sash at Hughes' talloring establishment on Walnut street above 11th, a few nights previously, when about 1,000 dollar worth of cloth was carried off. The brothers were held for a further hearing, and obtaining ball soon made themselves scarce. A notice of the arrest and of the attending circumstances being published, a resident of Lombard street, a few squares from the residence of the Starrs, called at the Mayor's office and said that he had a trunk at his house filled with goods of some kind, which had been brought there by the Starrs, and desired it examined. This was done, and the cloth stoles from the tailor store found therein. There is no doubt that the Starrs have acted as middle men between the thieres and the receivers and considerable of the property stolen lately in Philadelphia is believed to have gone in the direction of No. 618 Bainbridge street before it reached its fival destination.

tac wb

Carol kn ho res

THREE WICE YOUNG MEN. John Harp—not a jewsharp—Billy Wartman and Joe Tallman, while wendering among the drinking houses in Greene struct, came across one J. A. Misky, a brok-er, who had been drinking just enough to make him mellow. Being in that happy frame of mind when a man feels as if he owned all creation, and didn't care a continental how soon the world was swallowed up by an earthquake or drowned in a deluge, he accepted the kind regards of the trio, and accompanied one drinking house to another, treating of course, and becoming more and more mellow as the day wore on, At length, at a favorable moment, a $300 watch was slipped from the person of the broker, and he and the boys immediately parted company. He was sober enough to know of his loss, and by the aid of such a description as he could give of the men, the trie was picked up. When at the Central Station, Misky, though how came you so," very meexly identified his dear friends of the previous day, and they were sent to quod to await trial. Harp had on his person a pawn ticket with which the watch was recovered. Forty dollars had been advanced upon it, about one seventh its value Tallman belongs to a good stock, and his confederates have about the same to boast of in the way of ancestry, PROPESSIONALS. One of the young crowd of knucks, Charley Sallor by name, was picked up in a crowd on Brood street, a few nights ago, when some of the long eared specimens of humanity were giving the old dame Cushman a skyrocket reception. Charley was in the push, having hand as well as eye to business, and might have made a good stake had it not been for an officious policeman; He was sent to quod for ninety days.

John Herrman, who halls from New York, was caught on Saturday it. one of the upper rooms of the boarding couse, No. 260 South Second street. He had speaked in to the front door and had escaped observation until he reached a second story room. John, I doubt not, is a professions.

Eliza Dillon, an old market thief, was caught the other day stealing batter. She had a large pillow case so fastened in front of her as to form a good sized lift necket. She had butter and eggs and lard in it, and if Detective Reeder had not seen her as soon as he did, doubtless she would have had a leg of mutton or a roast of beef along with them. Eliza was sentio "Chandler ville," wille."

Bishop Odenheimer, of New Jorney, was the high priest of the aristocratic church of St. Peter's, Philadelphia, He was High Church—how could a man with his clevated notions of things, be otherwise—he was to his sphere a little ainstocrat, or a could a man with his elevated notions of tumes, or otherwise—be was in his sphere a little strateorat; or a bir one, as you please; he permitted no sharer of his throne—and 81, Peter's felt that there ought to be nose. His salary was ample, and he had a very hamble assistant to do the work of the parish, reserving to himself the more appropriate business of a high priest. When Odenheimer asid a thing was to be done, no one dared say no. He built a big steeple on the old church, and he raised to the top of it a gitt ereas, to symbolise his High Church notions. He might be the high priest of 8t, Peter's now, but like Wolsey, he was ambitious; and, when Bishop Donne, of New Jersey, went to his long rest, after a very active life, Odenheimer was chosen as his successor. The diocese was not large in a Pennsylvania sense; but Odenheimer found it too large for him, and at the late sitting of the General Convention, it was made two. The State being geographically like a crocodile, not otherwise, having a large bask and tion, it was made two. The State being geographically like a crocodile, not otherwise, having a large based and Jawa, and a fair sized body, supplemented by a very long tail, it was cut in two a little beyond the hind legs, leaving the longest and the least important part of the reputile to the Bishop south, and all the vital life-giving parts to the Bishop south, and all the vital life-giving parts to the Bishop south, and all the vital life-giving parts to the Bishop south, and all the vital life-giving parts to the Bishop south, and all the vital life-giving parts to the Bishop south, and all the vital life-giving parts to the Bishop, and as supposed director of sfairs there. Nevertheless, when it became uccessary for him to decide what part of the State he would take, without waiting to consult with his brother Bishop, he said the northern part. This may be regarded as an act of selfabness on the part of Odenhelmer; but low could mortal man be expected to do otherwise? Was it to be supposed that a mere piece of fiesh and blood could dives: itself of all selfabness, under such circumstances? Odenhelmer not only gets all the weath, all the really important parts of the old diocese for his share, but leave of absence for six months to travel in Europe. Good enough! His co-laborer has the especial privilege of wading through the sands, and living on the pine acented atmosphere of New Jersey south. Could the heart of any Bishop desire more?

DEFRICT ATTORNEY M'MICHAEL.

The course of District Attorney McMichael will be tested during the present term of the U. S. District Court. An attempt to steal at the New Post Office building, which, in my opinion, involves others than the parties under indictment, has come under the notice of the District Attorney, and unless he has courage the politicians will most certainly put him in a hole. Already they are about and all means will be used to defeat the cade of justice. Aubray H. Smith, Mr. Mc-Michael's predecessor, was not 'he man to be used by thieving politicians, and they hotsted him out. Mc-Michael will be watched, and unless he shows himself superfect to the indisences which courts it he ring, he's a gone sucker. Let him choose between the invor of the Ring and the condemnation of the people! At the New Post Office the spede had hardly been put in the ground before the rascale began te steal. Two or three carts were marked down as nine, and this went on day after day until detection took place. I have not heard what became of the man who made the discovery, but should not be surprised if he was found to be a very improper kind of person to have about the place "Eyes ight" is not the thing for a watcher when stealing is to be done. DISTRICT APPORNET N'MICHAEL

THE WELLSBORG BANK ROBBERY.

THE WELLEBORD MANE ROBBERT.

Holmes B. Kelly, a real estate agent, was arrested today on the charge of having conspired with others to negotiate stolen bonds, some of the 380,000 which were obtained from the fire proof of the Wellsbert Bank in Tloga county, Pa, in September last, after the masked robbert had lorced the cashler to aid them in doing their work. Kelly says he got the bonds from one J. E.
Flemming in exchange for a piece of land. He had a hearing before Alderman Beitler, and was held for trisk.

A PROTEST.

MARSHALL. HARRISON Co., Texas, Nov. 18.

Mannall. Harmow Co., Texas, Nov. 18.
Ebrron National Policia Garberts:

Bir—I wish to relate to you the following, to me distressing circumstance: My wife, Mrs. Dwyer, was taken ill on July 20th, and died largust 20th. At the time of her sickness, July 20th, Dr. Eads, of the firm of Rads & Pope, physicians of this city, was called on and continued to visit her until August 20th, at about 19 o'clock & E. when both Eads and Pope called together. My wife was lying on her right side, when Dr. Eads pissed his bands against her, turned her on her back, and sadd: "Mrs. Dwyer, wake up! wake up! How are you this morning?" My wife said 50 him: "Dr. Eads, go away from me; you are hilling me. If it is money you want, you know I will pay you do seem as I man up. Why are you keeping me in this misery so long? Why don't you do somethier, for the sake of your name and reputation?" Dr. Eads stepped back to the foot of the bad, and said: "Mrs. Dwyer, I would not give-you another done of medicine to save your life from hell, and, by God, I want you to distinctly understand. I care not for my name or reputation. It is entirely a matter of dollars and cents with me. I never want you to send for me again. Corne, on, Dr. Pope."

At the timp of this visit her loft side was paralyzed and she could het more. He had the day provious shaved her heed, and had a billater applied 623/4 in also. On the following day I called in another physician, who pronounced bur the worst butchered woman he ever saw, and that, owing to Dr. Eads treatment, she would have to die—which she did on the 26th inst. I now state that I am a Mannachusetts man; have been living here there years; own my own property; and I solemnly declare, on oath, that no Northern man can come here and get justice, unless with a double-barreled she gun and friends enough to back him. Both Eads and Pope are Southern men, and, consequently, I cannot such the set to the four her life; but if you will publish the tests to the great own.

gun and friends enough to back him. Both house Pope are Southern men, and, consequently, I cannot sue them here for her life; but if you will publish the insets to the world, you will be doing justice to a man who has lost his wite through the malpractice of Southern physicians.

Yours, respectfully,

D. R. Dwyrn.

How THE FIRST WARD BURGLARS DO IT .- Wm. A. Carliale's cutlery store, at 50 Corthadt street, was robbed on Thursday night of $2 000 worth of pocket knives. The burgiars wrenched off the cover of a coal hole in the sidewalk, went through the cellar to the rear, and up through a trap-door late the store-room, and after packing their booty, opened the front door and walked out, leaving the door half over for the inspection of any policeman who might stroll into that

THE RAIDS UPON THE POLICY DENS .- Capt. Sanders THE RAIDS UPON THE POLICY DESS.—Capt. Sanders paid an unceremonious visit to the policy shops on the west side Monday, and arrested James Bmits, at 135 Liberty street; Charles Clarke, 190 Greenwich street; James Bailey, 9 West street; and Henry Alberding, 101 Washington street, Justice Murray held Smith in $1,000 ball, and discharged the others.

MISCELLANEOUS,

HITCHCOCK'S MUSIC. BEAUTIFULLY PRINTED ON SHEET RUSIC PAPER.

MAILED ON RECEIPT OF PRICE. ANY TEN FOR ONE DOLLAR.

| NO. a contract of the party of the language           |
|---|
| 1,008 Take Book the Beart                             |
| 1,945-Marsellaise Rymn De Lisla                       |
| 1,100-The Heart Bowed Down                            |
| 1,149-I Cannot Sing the Old SongsClaribel             |
| 1.433 Norma's Boug Bellini                            |
| 55-Dear Hearth and HomeThomas                         |
| 1.910-CillerneyBalle                                  |
| 3-Wedding March                                       |
| 71-Do You Really Think He Did ?                       |
| 151-Por Old Love's BakeStranss                        |
| 146-The Black Key, Polks Masurks "                    |
| 185-On the Banks of Blue Danube                       |
| 179-Love's Greeting, Quickstep                        |
| 174-Il Talismeno, WaltzBalfe                          |
| 1 229_Roca'd in the Cradle of the Deep Knight         |
| 107_Steel Grand March Bechstein                       |
| 101-"Good Enough for Me" Song and Dance.              |
| 178-La Jolie Pariumeuse, Waltz Offenbach              |
| 171_La Timballe D'Argent Opera Bouffe                 |
| 90-I Wonder Who She Was ?                             |
| Was There Any Harm in That?                           |
| 117-One Little Kies Balte                             |
| 189 Dear Little Shamrock Cherry                       |
| 148-The Brightest Eres                                |
| 147-Mollie's Dream, Waltz Reisilger                   |
| 128-Little Katy Did Stoddart                          |
| 196-Amerriile   |
| 197_Old Father Rhipe Thayer                           |
| 120-Vienas Blood's, Walts Stranes                     |
| 121 Onl Vive Galop                                    |
| 141-Wise, Wife, and Bong Strauss                      |
| 184-A Bappy Circle, Galop                             |
| 184_La Fille de Madame Angot                          |
| 163-With Steam, PolksEd. Strauss                      |
| 164-Let's be Gay, Waltz J. Strauss                    |
| 166_Regatta Venezians                                 |
| 100-La Belle Louise, Quickstep                        |
| 108-Where the Citrons BlossomStrauss                  |
| 176-Who is at my Window !Osborne                      |
| 188-Aunte DearAbt                                     |
| Why throw away money on high-priced Music, when       |
| you can select tross our Catalogue of 700 pieces? Amy |
| 30 Half Dime, or 10 of Dime Series melled on receipt  |
|   |

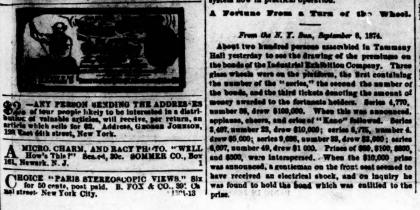

20 Half Diese, or 10 of Dime Bertes melled on recei of One Dollar. Sold by all booksellers, and can be of dered through any newsdealer. Soud stamp for On oget. BENJABIN W. HITCHCOCK, Publisher, S65 [Phird Avenue, New York. 1518-0a.

DOGAN'SEILVER-RIM AND ROSEWOOD BANJOS.

D Celebrated for their loud, sharp and brilliant tone.
Privational tembourines, bones and all kinds of material instruments and strings sent to any address, C. O. D. Bogan's Empitted Banjo Meanal, the most essaly acquired and only method of the hind ever published, containing 50 popular airs. This method is so simple that the pupil can play at sight. Price, sound in cioth, $3. Bogan's "Guide to the Stare; or, Dancing Without a Master," cantaining all the above named dances complete, price $1. Head stemp for circular and sample of Banjo mathod, and be convinced. SOHN J. BOGAN, 100 Real Houston street, New York.

The Prince of HATTERS.

I' you would buy a SILE HAT ulce, FIVE DOLLARS, only, is the price. Go nowhere else, take this advice, But just call in at CALLAHAN'S!

$40 00 | $40 00 840 00 840 00 $40 00

DON'T

FORGET

THAT THERE ARE ONLY

4,000

BONDS PARTICIPATING

SECOND PREMIUM

ALLOTHERT.

TO BE HELD

DEC: 7, 1874,

Steinway Hall.

EVERY BOND

WILL AT LEAST RECEIVE

$21,

AND MAY RECEIVE ONE OF THE 100 CAPITAL PREMIUMS.

DRAWN SERIES BONDS FOR BALE AT

$ 40

THE AMOUNT REALIZED FROM THE SALE OF THESE BONDS WILL BE USED FOR THE ERECTION OF THE PERMANENT INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITION PALACE IN NEW YORK CITY. SITUATED ON SETR TO 1050 STREET, BETWEEN SO AND 474 AVENUES.

ADDRESS, FOR BONDS AND CIRCULARS, WITHOUT DELAY,

Morgenthau, Bruno & Co.

PEWANCIAL AGENTS,

NO. SS PARE NOW,

(Post Office Drawer No. 38.)

REMIT BY DRAFT ON MEW YORK CITY BANES. BY REGIS-TERED LETTER, OR POST OF-FICE MONEY ORDER.

A New Idea in Finance-The Industrial Ex hibition and Drawn-Sorie Bonds. [From the New York Courier.]

chances offered him in the Industrial Exhibition than in any other reheme.

Again the price of a Drawn-serie Bond Ia only $19 ($40 now and $51 repeld on it at its final redemption). Now this is from $1.00 to $51,00 less than the 'price joi any other lottery ticket now before the public. Consequently for less mosey the holder of a Drawn-serie Bond receives a better chance at a capital prize than by any other system now in practical operation.

IN THE

io BOWERT is the stand, etween the streets called Broome and Grand. he best SILK HAT in all the land is made down there at CALLAHAN'S!

The FINEST FELT HATS there you'll see, The CHEAPEST FUR SETS that could be. But the great FIVE DOLLAR SPECIALTY Is those SILK, HATS of CALLAHANS!

In WORKMANSHIP they all excel, And none become the face so wall— It's wonderful how cheep they sell! Don't fail to buy at CALLAHAN'S 40

DON'T DORGET CALLAHAN'S.

140 Bowery 140 Between Grand and Broome Sta., New York.

ARUSEMENTS.

NIBLO'S THEATRE. LAST NIGHT BUT ONE

WILD CAT NED, DONALD MCKAY AND THE WARM SPRING INDIANS, MR. G. WALDRON.

Orchestra, $1; parquet circle, 75 cents; dress circle, 50 cents; gallery, 25 cents.

TAKE BERRY'S OPERA HOUSE, THIRTY-FOURTH STREET, BETWEEN SECOND AND THIRD AVENUES.

A new and gorgeous musical and terpsichorian sen-sation entitled "THE LANCERS," introducing Thirst FIVE REWITCHING TOUNG LADIES. Also a full VARIETY AND DRAMATIC COMPANY in songs, dances, sketches, etc., every evening at eight. Wednesday and Saturday matices at two o'clock.

HARRY BILL'S VARIETIES,

NO. 36 EAST HOUSTON STREET AND NOS. 147. 149 AND 151 CROSST STREET.

THE PAR EXCELLENCE OF PREFORMANCES IN THE Varieti Line in New York. To be Appreciated Most de Seen. OPEN WITHOUT CESSATION FOR TWENTY YEARS. FOR GENTLEMEN FROM THE COUNTRY IT IS THE MOST NOVEL AND RECHES HIBITION IN THIS CITY.

DEETHOVEN HALL, NO. 210 & 212 FIFTH ST., Bells, Concerts, Spiencidi large hell, newly painted, to: Bells, Concerts, Weddings, etc. For particulars inquire of GEORGE ECKLES.

66 LE PARIS." 30 BLEECKER STREET, NEAR BROADWAY, open every evening. Music by HURDI, THIRTY BAR MAIDS in attendance, WINES AND CIGARS of the best. RUCHESTER LAGER a specialty. L. B. HUED, Proprietor.

THE GREAT HORACE WESTON COMBINA-PRINCIANS, SUPERIORS, MTC.

TO THE APPLIUTED.—COMBULT DR. WEST FOR all year complaints. Office (private) 45 Bleegier street, between Broadway and Bovery. No fees upless cared asterbaterily. S years' practice. 1013-50.

D. COMMETT, MEMORIE OF J. T. UNIVERSITY D. (Medical College), and R. O. Surgeone, London, on he consulted on carbate distance of the face in pre-orat specialty contition him so calcalently, Stricture, Nervous and General Doblity particulation formed, Office 30 Centre street, noir Chamber,

A TTENTION.—CONSULT DR. PROTENTOR ANY disease. Understands patient's case at a glance; curse effectually the most invertents eissenes of the generative organs, blood impurities, physics! weakness, rheumstism, all nervous completes and debilities. Offer, 48 Good st.

CONSULT DR. S. CLAF TODD, 118 EAST Twelfth street, N. T. He cares Coughs, Catarrh, Consumption, Rheamatism, Firs. Hervous Debility, and all Chronic Diseases. Treatment seat tree. 1807.

The Rothchilds and other ominent European Banking Houses, have, at different times, succeeded in negotiating large public leans on a system which combine a low rate of interest (on a well secured investment) with a reasonable chance (through a well considered lottery drawing) at large capital primes.

This clever idea, which has been so successful abroad, has recently been introduced into this country, and is now the system upon which the Industrial Exhibition is being conducted. The system is very simple, and can readily be explained to the "comprehension of even the most superficial reader."

Each bond of the Industrial Exhibition Company is A LL THOSE REQUIRING & SKILVUL PHYSI-rian should consult Dr. H. D. Grindle. Speedy re-lier and quick cures guaranteed to all. Twenty-five years successful and uninterrupted practice in this city. Office 120 West Twenty-sixth eirsel, near Sixth avenue.

A PUBLIC NOTICE I—SELF-PROTECTION IS the law of nature. Every institutional who is in need of a physician, has a perfect right to sak tor and expense the destor's diploma. Of codine, a physician without ediplome, put him down so a quase. Dis. II. 2400-BY, 101 bleecker street, has hed twenty years' Prassian nost superscial reager."

Each bond of the Industrial Exhibition Company is secured by a mortgage upon the real estate held by the sompany, which is located in the most valuable persion

a holder of these beside not only is secured in his investment and is certain of his interest, but has a fair shanct at a fartness besides.

Turther than this—the Drawn-acrie Bonds, which were drawn October ith heat, and which are to be redessed December th until justices the helder's chances for the drawing of a prine by diminishing the number of tickers in "the pool." There are only 4,000 of these drawn-acrie bonds—whereas there are from 20,000 to 100,000 tickers in the other letteries now before the publications in the other letteries now before the publications has from seven to twenty-five times better chances offered him in the Indistrict Exhibition than in any other scheme.

PRESCRIPTION PREE.—FOR THE SPEEDY cure of Sominal Westered, Lost Scalood and all disorders brought on by indiscretion to provide the the legislation of the control of the CALL AT 10 MEW CHAMBERS STREET ANY night before 10. All Private Disease associaty and successfully cured at the old stand. To change

A BSOLUTE DIVORCES OFFAIRS PROB A Coerte of different States, for coursies, &c. If publicity required. No observe until Greene granted. Address, M. HUUSE, Attorney, 194 and any, T. T. 1908—17 to detale the head effect the heart hate at too, Drankenners, nos support, etc., and Advice free. FREDERICK I. KING, Oc. Law sud Notary Public, 262 Brondway, Fer 1810-19.

DIVORCES.—HYMENRAL INCOME.

MISFIT CARPETS.

GOOD SECOND-HAND AND MISFIT CARPETS.

Rich Patterns, Fine Qualities, Very Cheap, at the Old Place, 112 FULTON STREET.

SENT HOME AND LAID FREE OF CHARGE.

LOTTERIES.

TO THE HOLDERS OF TICKETS TO THE GRAND GIFT CONCERT OF THE MASONIC RELIEF ASSOCIATION OF NORPOLE, VA.-

OFFICE OF THE MASONIC RELIEF ASSOCIATION OF NORFOLE, VA., NORFOLE, NOVEMber 18, 1874.

The Board of Directors of this Association, feeling as sared that the patrons of their enterprise and the public generally are estiafed that in its measurement the inter-cute of all concerned will be strictly guarded, with honesty and fairness; and relying upon the belief that all who have aided as in our effort to complete the Masonic Temple in this city, are willing to rely upon our judgment as to the expediency of another postponement for a few days, notwithstanding our announcement that the Concert would positively be given on the 19th lest,, have ducided that a short delay will be more attackerry to all holders of tickets than to have a partial drawing eday next.

The following reasons have induced us to this setion:
First—While our receipts have been large, they have ot been of sufficient amount to enable us to give a full second—A drawing on the 19th inss. would not yield enough to access place the object for which our Association was organized and chartered; and.

Third—The encouragement which we have received convinces us that in forty days more we shall, without any failure, give a drawing which in its results will be acceptable to all our friends.

We have therefore fixed upon We have therefore fixed upon

Tuesday, Documber 29th, as the day when the Concert and distribution will take place, whether all the tickets are sold or not, or the money will be refunded upon application and presenta-tion of the tickets at the agency where purchased. By order of the Board of Directors,

HENRY V. MOORE.

POSTPONEMENTS IMPOSSIBLE. -820-

WILL BUY A

First Mortgage Premium Bond

N. Y. Industrial Exhibition Co., uthorised by the Legislature of the State of N. Y. SECOND PREMIUM DRAWING, DEC. 7, 1874.

THIRD SERIES DRAWING, - JAN. 4, 1875. EVERY BOND WILL BE REDEEMED WITH A PREMIUM, AS AN EQUIVALENT FOR INTEREST. CAPITAL PREMIUM, $100,000.

ADDRESS, FOR BONDS AND FULL INFORMATION. MORGENTHAU, BRUNG & CO., FINANCIAL AGENTS.

S PARK BOW, N Y. POST-OFFICE DRAWER 29.

ROYAL HAVANA LOTTERY

EXTRAORDINARY IDRAWING.

In the EXTRAGEDINARY DRAWING, which will take place on the 16th day of December, 1874, there will be only 16,000 Tickets, numbered from 1 to 16,000 with 2,007 Full Prizes, and the amount drawn will be 1,300,000 Dellars.

THE PRIZES IN THIS DRAWING WILL BE AS FOLLOWS.

1 of 25,000 Dollars each 4 of 10 000 " " 10 of 5,000 4 " 10 000 1,000 other prises, amounting to

2.087 prises, amount drawn
1 200,000
ALL THE PRIZES ABOVE STATED ARL DRAWN AT THIS DRAWING.
PRICE IN CURRENCY Whole Tickets, $100; Helves, $30; Quarters, $25; Fitths, $20; Tenths, $10; Twentethi, 45,
27 TO PREVENT LOSS BY MAIL, remit REGISTRRED LETTER, "Post-Office Money Order." Draits on New York City Banks, or by Express. We are prepared to fill orders. N.B.—Address all orders to

P. O. Address, Box 4,468. (Late of 16 Wall), 1518 8.

HAVANA LOTTERY.

EXTRAORDINARY DRAWING

OF DRAWING

OF DROWNERS 16th, 1974.
Only 16,000 Tickets—One Frize to every flevor Tickets.
2007 Frizes of 100,000
1 Frize of 100,000
1 Frize of 6,000
2 Frizes each of 5,000
2 Frizes each of 5,000
18 Frizes each of 6,000
Circulum each of 6,000
Circulum with full information sent free. Tickets for sale and prizes cashed by P. C. DEVLIN, Stationer and General Agent, 20 Liberty atreet, New York.
1514-1y.

HAVANA LOTTERY.

EXTRAORDINARY DRAWING OF DECEM-

POYAL RAXON GOVERNMENT LOFTERY.

Separate Only Lectory.

Services Coverments Lottery.

Services Lottery of Cuba.

Prime model and information gives, lock box 5,364.

THEODOR ESCHOOL, 118 Nassan street, New York.

5000 CURBURITIES AND NOVELTIRS.—
South pattern, booksellers, and everysouth which make a delar, send or call for samplers, decalars, cit.
Will, SIMFOUN, Publisher and Stationer,
ROVELTY HEADQUARTERS, 87 Centre street,
Large discounts to the trade.
N. B. Please say you saw this in the POLYCE GARRYTE.

THERE IS NO SUCH WORD AS PAIL TARRANTS'

Extract of Cubebs COPAIBA. A SURE, CERTAIN

SPEEDY CURE

aged by the m

HEVER PAILS.

Sold by Druggists all over the world.

A SPECIAL ADDRESS TO THE NERVOUS AND Adebilitated, whose sufferings have been protrected and whose cases require prompt treatment to render drinkness desirable. Beader, this stricle may not concern you at all. If you have never suffered from disease of the organs of generation, it is no necessary for you to read this. If you are suffering or have suffered, what effect does it produce on your general health? Depose the results of the suffered of the heart? Does your liver or urinary organs or bidneys frequently got out of order? Do you have spalls of each title extre curinary organs or bidneys frequently got out of order? Do you have spalls of so have yells of each title extre excitated? gaDo you have spalls of fainting, or rushes of blood to the head? It your memory impaired? It your minds constantly dwelling on this subject? Do you feel listless, moping, tired of sompany, of life? Do you wish to be left alone—to elicate the head? It your sleep broken or recites? Do you often or your stat or young? It your sleep broken or recites? Do you often of your created and or yourself, thinking that everybody that looks server as brilliant, the blooms of your plant are you have not your confloy yourself in society as wall? Do you plant you have you shall be a sufficiently you have the your plant your liver or dysepstements of the your plant in the your extensive plants? Your back week, hence week, and have but little appetite, and do you attribute this to dysepstement you have you had suffered from badly cured disease? Perment you had, it is a question whether his ne things to him; and if you had, it is a question whether his ne things to him; and if you had, it is a question you becoming indignant and hinted at the thing for fear of your becoming indignant and

MANHOOD: HOW LOST.

EDICAL COMPANION AND GUIDE TO

THE GREAT AMERICAN COFFEE POT. CHAMPION OF THE WORLD-Periestion in the ert of making water, does its own whose water, water, does its own dripping, and in the shortest time on report distillate earlier as either a subservers and the strength, and relates all its eramette and untifitions proporties. The only perfect working coffice pot ever offered to the public. Family rise, copper bottoms and wire game strainers. I gai, 32 3 quis, 30 75; 3 quis, 30 30; 1 quis, 30 35; acat to any address on receipt of price. The bottoms, 30 ceuts less. Coffice and Tex Ures, plain or nickle plated, farmished hotels and calcons to order. Roysly stamps for sale to manufacturers. Sand stamp for allustrated circular and terms.

GREAT ARREIGAN COPPER POT COM'T,

Description of the last of the G VIDE 10. APTROPHERD - A CONSTRUCTION OF THE PARTY OF TH

PARTY NAMED AL COMPTART PRACTIC

A VICTIM OF EARLY INDISCRETION CAUSE into necrous deblifty, pressature decay, etc., having tried in vain every advectiond remody, has discovered a simple measur of soff care which he will send from the highest millers and the send of the send of

oce ok-im n s e a van the om

cally and long and long loavrepving baps mber of afy for take, p, he mast bow Was it blood cumi, all r his wel in pecial in pecial could ill be strict Uffice in the ice of a de. Alo de. Mcisself he's a fithe three in the three in thr

ed toto newere
ink in asked doing
J. E. had s
r trial.

FOOTPADS AT WORK. Page 3.

A WEGRO MONSTEB. Page 3.

NFRA DIG. Page 3.

Youthful Depravity.

A YOUNG GIRL FIRES HER EMPLOYER'S HOUSE IN THREE PLACES.

Her Confession of Guilt.

One of the most extraordinary cases of areon on record was developed to an examination before Fire Mar-shal Sheldon. It appears that between 4 and 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, Mary Estelle Howard, a colored on Saturday afternoon, Mary Estelle Howard, a colored girl, fourteen years of sge, employed as a housemaid in the family of Mr. W. W. Downs, residing in Avenue A, near. Eighty-seventh street, setusted by malice, growing out of an insult received from a child of Mr. Downs, deliberately set fire to the house in three different places. Fortunately the fires were discovered and extinguished before any serious damage had been sustained. An uncle and a cousin of the girl are sinc employed in the house, the former as coachman and the latter as Au uncle and a cousi of the girl are also em loyed is the house, the former as coachman and the latter as unrae-maid. On Saturday morning the girl had some words with a child of Mr. Downs, and the child, a boy three years old, as she alleges, spat in her face. She therespon struck the child, and the matter coming to the ears of her uncle, he chastised her for having struck the child. Her uncle at about 1 o'clock went out driving with some members of his employer's family, and was not expected to return for several hours. Mrs. Downs, who was sick, was in one of the upper chambers of the house, and Delia Howard, the house maid's cousin, was attending to some duties in the kitchen. Between 4 and 5 o'clock Mary went into the cellar, gathered a heap of fine kindling wood, and set fire to it. She then went up stairs and busied herself in cleaning the windows on the parior floor. In the meantime the smoke from the pile of busied herself in cleaning the windows on the parior floor. In the meantime the smoke from the pile of bursing wood in the cellar escaped from the grating in freet of the house, and attracted the attention of Mr. George W. Brown, who resides at No. 447 East Eighty-nixth street, and he hurried to Mr. Downs' house. The nurse-maid, Delia, had she discovered the fire, and gave an alarm. While Mr. Brown and some of the neighbors were engaged in extinguishing the fire in the cellar, were engaged in extinguishing the fire in the cellar, Mary struck a match and applied it to the lines cover of one of the softs in the parlor, and then rau out of the room, closing the door after her. When the neighbors had put out the fire in the cellar, they discovered the fire which had been kindled in the parlor. This in turn was soon put out. I in the meantime, the youthful incendiary had descended into the dining room in the basement, and satting fire to a child's apron threw it into a closet, and locked the door. This third fire was quickly discovered and extinguished. Capt. Robbins, of the Twenty-third Precinct Police, was then informed of what had occurred, and repairing to the house proceeded to investigate the matter. He questioned Mary very closely, but she stoutly denied all knowledge of how the fires had been caused. As it was apparent that the girl was the incondiary, Capt. Robbins arrested her, and she was locked up at the Eighty-seventh street police station for the night. Notice was sent to Fire Marshal Sheldon, and he made a most searching investigation. Becoming convinced that the fires had been kindled by the suspected girl he sent for her and questioned her very closely, but she stoutly persisted in her denkil. She was again locked up, and as the Fire Marshal was about leaving the stationhouse she informed one of the sericents that she was willing to make a confession. She was brought out of the cell in which she was confined and made the following confession volustarily:

"It kindled all the three fires in Mr. Downs' house. I don't know why I did it. I was not anapty at the time. At noon I was angry and struck the child because he apit in my face. I took a box of matches from the closet, went to the cellar, and lit the paper which was lying among the wood. I went upstairs and weeked the windows of the pantry, on the parter floor just before. I lit the gas in the hall and then week into the partor and lit the allpeover of the soft. Affer that, and while they were putting out the fire in the partor, I went down stairs, took one of the children's aprone in the pantry, lit it end closed the d

A BOMANTIC ELOPEMENTS Page 2

PANIC IN JERSEY CITY. Pop-